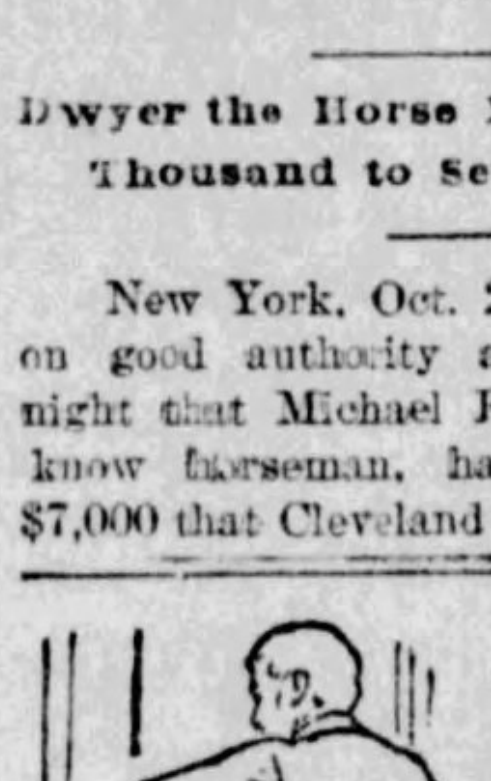
Bet on Cleveland in New York.

Dwyer the Horse Man Puts Up Ten Thousand to Seven Thousand.

New York, Oct. 26.—It was reported on good authority at Delmonico's last night that Michael F. Dwyer, the wellknow horseman, had bet $10,000 to $7,000 that Cleveland will be elected.



Removed — every vestige of Catarrh in the Head, no matter how bad the case, or of how long standing, by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Not only Catarrh itself, but all the troubles that come from it — they're perfectly and permanently cured by its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties.

If you could only be sure of that, it's enough.

The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Remedy try to prove it to you. They are sure enough of it—a record of 25 years, with thousands of the most hopeless cases, has satisfied them—but how can they prove it to you? There's no better way than with money. So they say this, and they mean it: "if we can't cure your Catarrh, no matter what your case is, we'll pay you $500 in cash. There's a chance that you can't be cured, but it's so small that we're willing to take it."

What more can they say or do to convince you?

Isn't that enough!

HURRAH FOR TAMMANY HALL,

They're True Democrats, One and All,

And the Cheer on Cheer for Honest Grover,

Will Wake the Echoes the Whole World Over.

The Flowers and Hills of a Beautiful State,

Are Singing the Praise of Our Candidate.

The Telegraph Ticks From Far and Near, Tell the People At Large That Harmony's Here.

New York, Oct. 26.—Tammany has ratified. With the glow and flash of red fire in the tranquil sky, with the roar and shock of rising cheers, and with the acclaim of thousands of loyal braves, the Democratic society made known last night that it was loyal to the democratic nominees.

While yet the walls of big Tammany hall shook and rocked and swayed to the welcome of Senator Hill, and while yet the throng about the twelve open air overflow stands filled up the streets and paralyzed traffic for blocks around.

Tammany leaders declared that it was the most giantic mass meeting that the metropolis of America has ever seen. When the doors were thrown open at 7 o'clock the throng that had stood clamoring for two hours at the entrance rushed into the hall with cheers of enthusiasm.

In a few minutes the building was packed, yet it seemed that there was but a slight diminution in the crowd outside.

Then came a wait of an hour. The interval was filled by the band playing the national airs of America, France, Germany, and Italy, the crowd repeatedly breaking out in cheers, and calling for Cleveland and Stevenson, Hill, Flower, or Gilroy.

National Chairman Harrity, accompanied by National Committeeman Don M. Dickinson and B. B. Smalley, and many other prominent democrats, came into the hall and went into a box reserved for them. The applause that greeted them had scarcely died away when a hurricane of cheers went forth as a welcome to the speakers of the evening, who came upon the stage escorted by the leaders of Tammany hall.

When quiet was restored, State Senator George F. Roesch in a short speech introduced Governor Roswell P. Flower as chairman.

Mr. Flower attempted several times to speak, but his words were drowned by the crowd who cheered him again and again.

After a few formal introductory remarks in which he spoke of the sympathy the political opponents of President Harrison had for him in his bereavement, the governor said that democrats were working for democratic victory because they believed that that would bring better government and a better living for the masses. The action of the Chicago convention had put the democrats on their mettle. It had practically bidden them to prove their democracy, and they were going to do it.

Though the democracy of the Empire, through its regularly constituted delegation, declared in favor of another candidate than him whom a majority of the party wanted, it had loyally submitted to the wisdom of that majority, and throughout the entire country no party machinery was doing greater work for democratic success in this campaign than the democratic organization of the state of New York. No local political organization anywhere was doing more for the democratic cause than the Tammany organization. The excellent local ticket, headed by Thomas F. Gilroy, a man whose honorable record in the public service demonstrates his capacity and ability for the mayoralty, would trengthen the national ticket and encourage the democracy of the country. Referring to the financial interests of the nation, he said:

"When you touch the pocketbooks of the people, you touch pretty closely to their convictions. In business we have no confidence in an agent who squanders our income and is afterwards detected in covering up his tracks by changing the method of bookkeeping. That is exactly what the republican administration and a republican congress have done.

During Mr. Cleveland's administration the interest-bearing public debt was reduced by $338,000,000 and a cash surplus of $48,000,000 left in the treasury, not including nearly 25,000,000 in fractional silver and minor coins. Inspired by this example the Harrison administration started in well. During the first two years and a half it reduced the debt $259,000,000, but during the last year—from October 1, 1891, to October 1, 1892—it has not reduced the debt a single dollar, and from present appearances will not be able to make any further reduction whatever during the remainder of its official life. This is a startling fact which every voter in the country should know—that for the first year since resumption times the government of the United States has been unable to lay aside a dollar for the payment of its public debt. What kind of stewardship is that? Are the people to reward that kind of financiering?

Continuing, he said that in order to conceal these great misuses of the public money, the republican party, through its representatives in office, had changed the method of bookkeeping at the treasury. In order to turn a deficit into an apparent surplus they had invaded a trust fund. For years there had been set aside in the treasury a fund for the redemption of national bank notes. It consisted of moneys deposited by national banks for the retirement of their circulating notes. The government was bound to use it for that purpose, and through Mr. Cleveland's administration, and part way through Mr. Harrison's administration, it was treated as a liability and reserve fund.

It amounted to about $80,000,000 when Mr. Cleveland went out of office. It amounted to about $25,000,000 now. But it had recently been transferred from the liability to the assets side of the treasury statements, and is one of the largest sums which are used to cover an actual deficiency.

If the same system of bookkeeping with which Mr. Harrison's administration began were still used there would be revealed an actual deficiency of over $46,000,000. McKinley protection did some good, of course; it temporarily stimulated certain industries and encouraged new ones; but the trouble with that kind of protection, according to the democratic view, was that it was not only unjust to the great body of consumers, but it gave an artificial and unhealthy stimulus to such industries as it was designed to protect. The Cleveland administration was an administration of public affairs for the people and not for individuals.

"As to the force bill," he concluded, "when the republican party has reached that condition, where to insure political supremacy it dares not trust the unintimidated, honest vote of the people, but seeks to perpetuate its power by deliberate, arbitrary subversion of constitutional government, it is time for loyal Americans everywhere to rise up and strike the scepter of power from these unworthy hands."

Following Mr. Flower's speech came the reading by Secretary McGoldrick of the list of vice presidents and secretaries, and then the unanimous adoption of resolutions, which after indorsing Cleveland and Stevenson, and condemning the force bill, say: "To our brethren throughout the country we pledge such decisive majority in this city for the democratic candidates as will secure the electoral vote of this state for Cleveland and Stevenson; for the promotion of peace and good will among the sections, and for the commercial emancipation of the industrial masses of this country from the restrictions and onerous burdens imposed upon them by republican class legislation."

Gov. Flower next introduced Senator David B. Hill. At the mention of the ex-governor's name there was another great outburst of cheers. The name of "Hill," "Hill," was shouted time after time. It spread to the street and was taken up by the multitude and only died away when the people became exhausted. The senator awaited patiently for the restoration of order and then began his speech.

Synopsis of Hill's Speech.

"This occasion is the first time I have had the honor of addressing the democracy of New York in their ancient and honored temple of democracy. I am not unmindful of the fact that the democrats of Tammany hall were among my stanchest supporters during all that peroid from the memorable campaign of 1885 through the great contest of 1888, in the senatorial election of 1891, and the last occasion when the democracy of the Empire state honored me with their confidence at Albany and Chicago. To-day the great reliance of intelligent political observers for the success of our national candidates in this state is upon the immense majority which is expected to be rolled up in this city under the auspices of the magnificent organization of Tammany hall, which in recent years has known no such word as defeat, and to which all eyes are now turned, and upon which our hopes are centered. Those who, because of personal disappointment or because candidates of their particular choice have not been nominated, would encourage the temporary defeat of their party, usually live to regret their action, and to realize how difficult it is for that party to regain the ground that has been unwisely and foolishly lost. I believe in a healthy, strong and vigorous partisanship. This does not mean the manifestation of a narrow, hide-bound or selfish spirit."

Mr. Hill then turns his attention to the tariff and makes an exhaustive argument against the constitutionality of republican protection. He continues:

"I suggest to our opponents that their bill should declare upon its face something like this: 'Whereas, no more revenue than is already provided for is now needed for the support of the government, but it is desirable that certain private industries of the country should be encouraged and protected at public expense; therefore, under the taxing power vested in congress, the following duties are hereby imposed for the purpose of affording the encouragement and protection desired.' Such a recital would fairly raise the precise question at issue between the two parties, and its determination would place one or the other of them in the wrong. Will our republican friends accept my proposition?

"As matters now stand, we realize that we are discussing an abstract question incapable at this time of proper presentation or judicial determination. It possibly has no practical value so long as our opponent shirks a fair presentation of it. But the democratic party believes and always has believed that "republican protection," as is expounded by its advocates and exemplified in the details of its measures (although artfully concealed from their face), to be in violation of the spirit, if not the letter of the constitution as it now stands—and it frankly avows its sentiments in its platform.

He then discussed the views of Madison and Jackson, and says of the democratic position:

"We have not advocated and do not advocate free trade, because the government needs revenue for its support; and rather than to resort to direct taxation to secure them, we favor duties upon imports as the best and easiest method of obtaining these revenues.

"We denounce republican protection as a fraud—as a robbery of a great majority of the American people for the benefit of the few,' is the vigorous but truthful language of the democratic national platform. It will be observed that it is republican protection that is thus denounced, not the mild protection of our early history to real infant industries, when the excuse for it was more defensible.

"The republican protection of to-day. It becomes worse and worse and more intolerable as years roll on. It is a progressive evil, demanding more to-day than yesterday, more this year than last, more this decade than the previous one. Is the republican platform of 1892 to be considered any different from those of 1884 and 1888? If it is to be construed to mean exactly what it says, then what becomes of the McKinley law, which is not based upon any such doctrine? In one aspect of the situation it looks as though the republican party had become frightened over the operations of the McKinley law, and feared a renewal of the popular verdict of 1890 upon it, and hence had sought to repeat from the ultra position heretofore taken by it.

"Our opponents are diligently seeking to alienate the laboring people from the democratic party, to which the great majority of them have so long belonged. In my opinion the effort will not succeed. The democratic party is and always has been the true friend of labor. It has sought to redress its grievances, to protect its rights, to maintain its dignity, and to elevate its condition. Its interests are all bound up in the welfare of the democratic party and there they will remain so long as our party remains faithful to its trust."

Of the force bill he says:

"The most important issue involved in this election is that presented by the proposed republican federal election bill, otherwise known as the 'Davenport force bill.' If republican success should ensue as the result of the pending election, that measure would become a reality, with all its dire and unfortunate consequences. Unwise financial, industrial or tariff legislation can easily be repealed if it proves unsatisfactory, but political legislation fastened upon the country to secure an undisguised partisan advantage will not be readily surrendered, although its injustice may be fully demonstrated. The safest course is by every means in our power to prevent its original enactment rather than trust to the generosity of our opponents after it once shall have been fastened upon the country.

"Our opponents do not discuss very much this issue, but seek to evade and ignore it. President Harrison, in his letter of acceptance, takes a more conservative view than had been expected and endeavors to draw public attention away from its consideration by the mild suggestion of a non-partisan commission to revise federal election laws. Mr. Blaine, the shrewdest of all the republican leaders, in a recently published letter, substantially advised the abandonment or ignoring of the force bill issue. But the vice presidential candidate, Mr. Whitelaw Reid, in his very able and aggressive letter of acceptance, impetuously rushes in where cautious men had feared to tread, and vigorously defends in effect the substance, spirit, and purpose of the Davenport bill. This course does credit to his consistency, although it may be a reflection upon his good judgment. This issue alone necessarily makes the south solid for the democratic party.

Concluding, he says:

"The cause is worthy of the support of every patriot who loves his country and desires to see its free institutions perpetuated and maintained. The reforms which we demand are necessary to the safety and prosperity of the republic. We readopt the expressive language of the national democratic platform of 1876, under which Samuel J. Tilden was elected to the presidency: "Reform can only be had by a peaceful civic revolution. We demand a change of system, a change of administration, a change of parties, that we may have a change of measures and of men."

PLEURO PNEUMONIA.

London, Oct. 26.—The recent cases of development of pleuro-pneumonia in cattle from the other side after they had been landed is causing considerable anxiety among stock raisers. There is a report to-day of an outbreak of this disease among cattle recently landed at Dundee by two steamships from Canadain ports. It is said that some of the animals were killed and found diseased.

ZENAS KING DEAD.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 26.—Mr. Zenas King, one of Cleveland's most widely known citizens, and president of the King Iron Bridge company, died last night at his residence on Euclid avenue.

Mr. King was a pioneer in iron bridge building, the most notable structure of that character being the one between Covington, Ky., and Cincinnati.

Mr. King was born in Kingston, Vt., May 1, 1818.

COAL GAS DID IT.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Bortis Goddard and John Glasimer, printers, were asphyxiated by fuel gas which escaped from a jet in their room at 401 Forty-sixth street last night. Their death was evidently due to accidental causes. Both men came to this city a short time ago, Goddard from Terre Haute and Glaismer from St. Louis.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

Washington, Oct. 26.—John T. Rush, a brakeman on the Pennsylvania road in an effort to avoid a northbound train stepped on the track just beyond the navy yard tunnel yesterday, and was instantly killed by a southbound train which he did not see.

LA FLECHE WON.

London, Oct. 26.—The Cambridgeshire stakes to-day were won by Baron Hirschs La Fleche, Gen. Owen Williams' three-year-old brown colt Pensioner, by Royal Hampton out of Legacy, second, and Sir J. Miller's five-year-old chestnut mare, Jodel, by Reverberation, dam by Petrarch, third.

HELD BY THE WEATHER.

Quarantine, Oct. 26.—The White Star steamship Reutonia, which left Liverpool October 19, was due in this port about midnight last night, but it is thought she was detained by the severe weather which is reported by incoming steamships.

TO THE DEMOCRATS.

A Call From Chairman C. F. Black.

The Republican Party Is on the Run

And He Proposes to Keep Them There for Some Time to Come.

Washington Oct. 26.—A final appeal to the democratic clubs in the United States has been sent out from the national headquarters of the clubs in this city.

It is signed by Chauncey F. Black, president of the national association of clubs, and reads as follows:

"In a few days the verdict of the ballot box will determine whether the people can elect a president of their choice, or whether the colossal contributions of the corrupt monopolies and trusts can nullify free suffrage and buy another lease of power for the republican party.

"It is known that the enemies of democracy and the people have lost all hope of electing the candidate of the Minneapolis convention by appeals to reason and fair election methods and have determined upon the plan of campaign which contemplates the purchase of the presidency.

"Their plan includes not only the legitimate work of polling their party vote, but also of bribing electors to refrain from registering and to stay away from the polls and the expenditure of millions of dollars for the direct purchase of votes on election day.

"It is to counteract this attempted debauchery of the suffrage that the national democratic committee appeals now to patriotic citizens for aid.

"Money is needed to get out the democratic votes, to have watchers at the polls to prevent frauds and for taking such legitimate and proper steps as may be necessary to preserve the purity of the ballot.

"Relying upon the people alone, the national association of democratic clubs having no office holders to assess and no monopolies to bargain with, it therefore makes this appeal to every democrat, no matter what his circumstances may be, to give the national committee such pecuniary aid as he can spare. No sum, however small, will be refused. Send what you can and get your neighbor to remit also."

MRS. HARRISON.

Her Remains Placed in a Casket.

Everything in Readiness for the Starting of the Funeral Train.

Washington, Oct. 26.—The president joined the white house family at breakfast this morning. Habitually considerate of others, he appears to be holding back his own deep grief in order to lighten the burden of those around him.

He passes much of his time with his little grandson, Benjamin Harrison McKee. Between the two—the experienced soldier, statesman and president, and the light-hearted, manly little boy, there has always been a touching bond of affection and an intimacy which overlooks the disparity of years.

The lad is never happier than when he can persuade his grandfather to read to him, and Mr. Harrison, in his deep bereavement, finds in the lad's cheerful presence a welcome outlet for his strong domestic feelings.

The remains of Mrs. Harrison were placed in the casket this morning and transferred to the east room where they will remain until after the services tomorrow. A large number of floral tributes have been received and will be placed about the casket.

Messages of sympathy and condolence both by mail and telegraph continue to arrive at the white house. They come from all parts of the country and from Canada and represent all classes and conditions of people.

The members of the cabinet met with Secretary of State Foster this morning to consult and determine the details of the trip to Indianapolis. All the members were present except Secretaries Elkins and Foster of the treasury department, who are expected to reach Washington today.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 26.—Mrs. Harrion will be buried in the McKee lot in Crown Hill cemetery. The burial spot has no grave as yet. It is a sloping piece of ground with trees on two sides, but open to the sun. The lot is near the Newcomer lot. Notification that it had been chosen was received by telegraph from Secretary Halford. The president has indicated his preference in the matter of the funeral arrangements, and in accordance therewith Dr. M. L. Haines announces that the ceremonies will be brief and simple. Instead of music from a full choir, there will probably be quartet singing. "Lead, Kindly Light," and "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" will be sung. The preacher's talk will be short.

The members of the cabinet now in the city met at the state department this morning to make arrangements for their attendance at the funeral. There were present all but Secretary of the Treasury Foster and Secretary of War Elkins. It was decided that the cabinet should assemble in the executive masion on Thursday at 9:30 a. m. and act as honorary pallbearers. With the exception of Secretary Tracy, who has been requested to remain in Washington to act for the cabinet in case anything occurs during the absence of its members, the cabinet officers will accompany the funeral party to Indianapolis.

Secretary Foster and Secretary Elkins will join their fellow members at Indianapolis.

Mrs. John W. Foster, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Rusk will accompany the party and will be met at Indianapolis by Mrs. Charles Foster and probably Mrs. Elkins.

GEN. JOHN P. REA,

Ex-Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army,

Will Vote for Grover Cleveland This Fall.

He Does So on Account of Cleveland's Record on the Pension Question.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 26.—It develops at a late hour. to-night that John P Rea, ex-commander -in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, has deserted the republican party. It is as yet known to but few men of his party, but it is believed that Judge Rea's flop means that the republican party is doomed in this state.

Judge Rea has held many offices under his party, and two years ago stumped the state for his ticket. The significant part of the affair is that Judge Rea's conversion was primarily brought about by Cleveland's pension vetoes. Speaking of his change of heart Judge Rea said to-night: "There was so much talk in Grand Army circles on the subject of these pension vetoes that I determined to look it up for myself. I did so thoroughly, and the result is that I will show what I think of it by voting for Mr. Cleveland. I fail to find a single veto that was not based upon principles of right and justice, and I honor Cleveland for his upright and manly course.

"I believe his sympathies are and always have been with the old soldier, and I can prove my belief in no more convincing way than by giving to him the first vote I have ever cast for a democrat. In the next place, I am convinced the republican party is wrong in its tariff theories, and that the country will say so at the coming election in unmistakable language, and on this account also I will cast my vote for the democratic platform and the man who stands upon it. In Minnesota there is every reason why a thinking man should support Lawlor, the democratic candidate for governor, and I will be one of the many good republicans who will support him.

"The republican party is on the wrong track both in state matters and in the nation, and must be brought to a realizing sense of its position by a thrashing that will teach it a lesson. This thrashing will come in two weeks, and then I hope the party will correct and purify itself and make itself worthy of the support of all republicans."

DON ON HIS WAY WEST.

He Will Look Up the Political Situation.

The Great Farmer States Are Leaning Toward the Democracy.

New York, Oct. 26.—Don M. Dickinson, chairman of the democratic national campaign committee, started for Chicago late last night and will make a hurried tour of the west before his return to New York. He will be absent several days.

Senator Hill left the city at midnight for Washington on his way to Lynchburg, where he is to speak. He will return to New York at the close of the week. It is planned that he is to make a speech at Port Jervis and possibly one at Syracuse. He will close with a speech at Albany, on November 4.

ST. PAUL TRAINMEN.

They Have Grievances They Want Adjusted.

Too Many Hours and Too Few Men in the Crew.

St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 26.—Several days ago a delegation of trainmen on the Maple Leaf road went to St. Paul to interview General Manager Egan and ask redress for some grievances.

The trainment found that Mr. Egan had left the city, and at once laid the matter before Grand Chief Conductor Clark and Grand Train Master Wilkinson, and these gentlemen are now in consultation.

The men claim they have to run with too light a complement of brakemen; that they are obliged to work 19 hours before they can ask for extra pay for over time, and that the management has refused to pay any attention to their requests. The men say they will step out if they do not secure redress

FIZZLE AND FIASCO

The Great Ashley Meeting at Maumee Last Night.

Not a Corporal's Guard on Hand, Nor Music or Band,

And the Irate Acrobat Is Fairly Furious.

He Refuses to Eat in the Same House With Mechanics

And Hunts the Town in Search of Supper—The Democrats Take Pity on the Republican Candidate.

Maumee City, Oct. 26.—(Special)—The great(?) republican rally at Maumee last evening was a big joke on Candidate Ashley, and a big joke all around for that matter. It was contemplated by Ashley and his generals to have a stupendous blow-out with a band, red fire, torches and all the other accessories for a grand spectacular production on flimsy canvas. Accordingly Jim sent the funds up to the local republican committee there to be expended in hiring the musicians and adding the other effects that would enable Mr. Ashley to step out before the crowd and say, as is usual:

"Gentlemen, Citizens and Friends: This reception is a great surprise to me. I assure you—entirely unexpected. I thank you one and all for this grand expression of your regard for me and love for the great party we all represent. I am never so happy as when I am in this beautiful city; your wide streets, your public buildings, your charitable institutions, your intelligent citizens, etc., etc., etc."

But somehow or other the thing didn't work out. The committee struck a snag—their love for the swag surmounted their affection for Mr. Ashley and the party, and the funds were appropriated and divided pro rata.

So far so good; but how to get up the celebration—aye, there was the rub.

They must get a band or Mr. Ashley would be mad. They put their heads together and said, we must be the band if we don't want to pay out the cash for one. So the committee rummaged about and unearthed some old drums that had from all appearances been used by their great-grandfathers in the revolutionary war, and organized the sickest looking drum corps that mortal man ever eat eyes upon. And looks wasn't all; they couldn't play, but then we'll make a noise, said they.

Such was the band that greeted Mr. Ashley.

Dr. Kline, the well-known and sterling democrat, and a few other democrats, as a simple matter of courtesy, seeing Ashley's predicament and Baumbach's dilemma, consented to pilot the precious pair of patriots to the hall.

Fully one-half of those in the hall were boys; one-half the balance were women and there were not fifteen republicans in the hall.

The great lover of labor showed by his action at the Maumee house in refusing to sit down in the same dining room with common laborers and mechanics how honest and sincere is that love.

He and Baumbach drove all around the town in hopes of striking some good republican who would offer to take them in and serve them supper. Failing in this they returned to the Maumee house, but refused to go to supper until the diningroom had been cleared of the common herd.

'Squire McDonald acted as chairman at the great rally (?) and the whole fiasco is the laughing stock of the town. Great is Ashley!

Switchmen Are Preparing for a Strike.

Confirming News of What Has Been Suspected for Some Months.

New York, Oct. 26.—The rumors which have been in circulation for some time of an impending general strike of the railroad switchmen are confirmed by a number of men in the Jersey City yards.

In order to make the strike more effective when it is ordered, efforts are being made to bring about an amalgamation between the Switchmen's Mutual Aid association and the different railroad brotherhoods. A prominent member of a switchmen's local organization who was seen in the Erie yards yesterday said:

"The intention is to strike at or just before the time the world's fair is opened. We have received instructions from the headquarters of our organization to use our efforts individually to organize thoroughly, and above all, not to allow ourselves to be forced into strikes by the companies in the meantime.

"The companies will probably try to do this in order to weaken the organizations, but all the different lodges on the leading lines are forewarned. There is every possibility, however, of the companies granting the united demands of the men when the time comes and thus avoiding a strike for the men never had such a chance before of rectifying their grievances."

BURNED TO DEATH.

Fatal Fire in a Cleveland Saloon.

Four Persons Lose Their Lives While the Buildings Were Burning.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 26.—Fire at 1:30 o'clock this morning destroyed the building corner of Central avenue and Harriet street, occupied by James Shannon and John McGinty, saloonkeepers, and Frank Maun, barber. Shannon and his family lived in the upper section of the structure. They were burned to death, being overcome by smoke before assistance could be rendered.

The dead are: James Shannon, aged 38; Mrs. Shannon, aged 32; James jr., 6 years; John, 4 years. The bodies were in an unrecognizable condition when recovered. Financial loss, $3,000.

SLOWLY STARVING TO DEATH

This Was the Condition of Mrs. Mary Gorman Previous to Consulting Dr. Byers and His Associates.

Now She Is Well and Strong and Doing Household Work for a Family of Eight.

"It almost borders on the miraculous the success Dr. Byers and his associates had in my case," says Mrs. Mary Gorman, who resides on Sawyer street, Eighteenth ward. "I had been troubled a long time with terrible neuralgic pains in my head and face, ulcerated mouth and deranged stomach. The inside of my mouth was all covered with ulcers, my appetite was poor and I had not eaten any solid food for weeks before consulting them, on account of my mouth and stomach. I vomited everything I ate, could not even retain beef tea or milk on my stomach. I was very much reduced in flesh. Indeed, had it not been for the relief Dr. Byers and his associates afforded me, I would have soon starved to death.

Mrs. Mary Gorman, Sawyer street, city.

"I could not lie down for the smothering sensation caused by the accumulation of gas in my stomach and bowels. It also caused shortness of breath, palpitation and fluttering of heart, cold hands and feet, etc., etc. I had to often walk the floor all night belching up gas from my stomach. This would give me temporary relief until it would form again.

"I tried everything I could hear of, but found no relief. Reading three months ago of the remarkable cure of Mrs. Lewis Zollinger, whose symptoms were identical with mine, excepting the mouth trouble, I determined to consult Dr. Byers and his associates and place myself under their treatment. I thought as they had cured her they could at least afford me some relief. My hopes were more than realized, for to-day I am a well woman and doing the housework for a family of eight, where three months ago some one had to wait on me. You cannot make this statement too strong, for the half has not been told, and cannot be realized. I will gladly tell any one who may call upon me what Dr. Byers and his associates have done for me."

FOURTEENTH DISTRICT.

Candidate Elizur G. Johnson in Hard Lines.

He Figures in Court in an Unfavorable Light.

The Republican Nominee Has An Excellent Chance to Remain at Home—A Peep at a Case in Seneca Courts.

Tiffin, O., Oct. 26.—(Special)—A prominent republican citizen accosted the Bee correspondent, to-day, thus:

"Do you want to see a court record against Elizur G. Johnson, who is opposing Hon. M. D. Harter for congress in the Fourteenth district?"

"Yes, indeed; what is it?"

"Come along. I have been wondering why this skeleton was not exposed before. Perhaps Mr. Harter does not know of it, or has determined to discuss politics, and avoid personalities. But that attempt in the Cleveland Leader, yesterday, to smirch his business integrity makes me mad. I have known Harter for years, as many hundred others have, and such an unsullied life merits fair treatment, or retaliation, if unfairness is shown."

At the court house, upon the records of the circuit court, was found the following case, with the transcript of the evidence, the opinion of the three judges, Hons. Henry W. Seney, Thomas Beer and John J. Moore, and their decree: Jemima Cromwell v. Elizur G. Johnson, et al.

The story as herein recited will be taken literally from the records without the addition of a single ornament in the way of rhetoric or the employment of any dramatic slow music.

Mrs. Jemima Cromwell was a widow residing in Tiffin in 1884 and was then 74 years old. She owned a farm of 226 acres and several town lots and other property of various descriptions. A servant girl was her only household companion.

Meade H. Buckley, one of the defendants, at this time lived in Florence, Erie county. He came a stranger to Tiffin shortly prior to July 23, 1884, and associated himself with one Edward S. Clark, in the Bohemian Oats Business.

Mrs. Cromwell was in the incipient stages of senile dementia. In her solitary life, childish and old, designing persons could readily influence her. Buckley and Clark begin their operations. They sell her 15 bushels of Bohemian oats for $10 a bushel and persuaded her to give them her negotiable note for $150, when the oats were not worth 10 cents per bushel. Next this precious pair get her note for $350 for more oats and make her a director in a Bohemian Oats Association.

In a few weeks they have obtained her notes for $5,000 for a pretended patent right covering a fire-proof paint. All these notes were promptly transferred. The poor old widow has a ray of intelligence at this time and informs Buckley and Clark she has been defrauded. Unwilling to release their prey they pretend to compromise. Buckley sends for a cousin, Norman H. Andress, residing in Erie county. Clark gets a tract of Kentucky land for $70, with imaginary title, and has it transferred to Andress. Then Mrs. Cromwell is induced to buy this worthless land for $12,000, giving her notes for $7,000, and her great fire-proof paint patent right.

So great had become Buckley's influence over this widow, approaching imbecility, that he next conceives the project of marrying her. He is over thirty years her junior, and when he commences his courtship is a married man. But he gets a divorce in Erie county November 18, 1884, and two days afterward he persuades the widow to sneak away from home without the knowledge of relatives or friends and to marry him at Monroe, Mich.

But one must travel back a step in the story. The widow in July, 1884, had had another lucid interval and discovered the Kentucky land grant. She went to her lawyer and had affidavits drawn for the arrest of Buckley, Andress, Clark and Denman. The latter is identified as a former partner of Buckley's, and is himself and all around speculator in Lorain county. This Denman claimed to have had the $7,000 of Kentucky land notes transferred to him. It is at this stage of the game that stalks across the stage. He hurries from Elyria to save this quartet from arrest. They go to the widow's house in Tiffin (she is married in November and this is in July, 1884). She is persuaded to settle with Denman by paying him money, and giving him three $1,000 promissory notes, secured by mortgage. It is these notes which Johnson claimed to own, and which form the basis of the litigation. They are links in a long fraudulent chain of the Bohemian Oats Transaction.

It is necessary to resume for but a few paragraphs the rehearsal of Mrs. Cromwell's fate after she married Buckley. She deeded him all she owned in three weeks. He mortgaged it, and the mortgages were foreclosed, Buckley making default. Then in 1887 she sues for divorce on the ground of adultery and neglect and asks for restoration of her estate, drained away from her by fraud, and cancellation of the mortgages. Her divorce is granted. Other parties become involved as holders of mortgages, but it is merely collateral to the main point of this recital.

On April 12, 1889, the probate court of Seneca county adjudged

Jemima Cromwell an Imbecile,

and in the suit herein stated Emma Kaup was made her guardian and became the plaintiff. The petition declared that the notes and mortgage pretended by Johnson to be his, were fraudulent and without consideration, and that he well knew Mrs. Cromwell was of unsound mind when she executed them, and the court is prayed to cancel them. All the issues concerning persons holding entirely distinct liens are eliminated from this report. The testimony is heard. Experts and neighbors testify that the widow Cromwell as early as 1884 had a heat prostration and senile dementia began. Every fact of the various frauds above told is established and the court so holds. All about the Kentucky land, the patent paint, and the Bohemian oats swindle are shown by uncontroverted evidence. The defendant, Elizur G. Johnson's testimony is queer. He is a

Don't Remember Witness.

He bought the notes of Denman in the spring of 1885—Denman never indorsed them. He paid about $600, and cancelled an old debt, and gave a due bill. Forgets for how much. Though he went to Tiffin and to the widow's house when the notes were executed, Mr. Johnson declares that he knew nothing of the dealings between his client and Mrs. Cromwell. But the testimony cannot be adduced entire within proper limits.

The opinion of the court recites all the long story of linked frauds herein repeated, and declares every allegation proved except that Mrs. Cromwell was an imbecile in 1884. She was, however, in such a condition as to preclude her knowing what the contracts for the oats, paint, land, and the Denman deal were. As to Elizur G. Johnson the court says:

"The court is asked to find that the mortgages of Johnson and Denman are null and void. Now what had Mrs. Cromwell received for the $7,000 in notes made and delivered to Andress, and of which Denman at the interview (when Johnson came to Tiffin to prevent the arrest of Denman, Andress, Buckley and Clark), pretended to be owner? Simply nothing. To procure the surrender of those notes she was persuaded and induced by the artifice and cunning of those present to give money and to execute the Denman notes and mortgages of which Johnson claims to be the owner. He was present at their execution as the attorney of Denman and Buckley, who were threatened with arrest for fraudulently procuring the timber land notes, which formed the consideration for the Denman notes and mortgages, and to say that he, Johnson, did not know of what the consideration consisted is to proclaim his as an attorney. Because of the fraud entering into the transaction the notes and mortgages should be cancelled."

"Negligence and Ignorance

The balance of the opinion relates solely to the other claimants of liens.

The court in its decree goes further than in its opinion. In the latter, as just noticed, there is the reverse process of insinuation. The three judges say if Johnson did not know, he was negligent or ignorant. But read the decree of the court:

"That the notes and mortgages which said Jemima Cromwell, on said 23d day of July, 1884, made, executed and delivered to one Martin Denman, and which the defendant, Elizur G. Johnson, now claims to own and hold, and which are mentioned and referred to in the pleadings herein, were obtained from her fraudulently and by undue influence and artifice, and were wholly without consideration; all of which said Johnson, who was present

"At the Time Well Knew."

The notes are cancelled and the estate restored to Mrs. Cromwell. There is no addition to be made to this article unless it be the only fact not taken from the record, and that is that Mrs. Cromwell died a hopeless imbecile within six years.

It is unnecessary to enlarge upon this case. There are many points in the testimony left unnoticed. As my republican friend again met me after several hours' laboring at the court house, he simply asked, "What do you think of comparing M. D. Harter to E. G. Johnson?"

SOUTHERN INDIA.

Missionary Work in and Around Madura.

Address of Dr. Root to the Central Congregational Women's Missionary Society.

Miss Pauline Root, medical missionary at Madura, India, spoke yesterday to the Women's Missionary society of the Central Congregational church and a number of lady visitors. Mrs. George Brown presided at the meeting, held in the basement of the church. After devotional exercises a brief business meeting of the society changed the time of meeting from the last to the first Friday in the month and appointed Mrs. John Eck delegate to Detroit. She will be accompanied by Mrs. R. Eck and Mrs. Hurd, and all three are expected to report at the regular meeting next Friday evening.

Dr. Root was then introduced and in a pleasant conversational way told of missionary work in the extreme south of India. Madura being little more than nine degrees north of the equator and the country a sandy plain, with few trees—banyan and palms—the heat is great, the average temperature, day and night, being 84 degrees, and the lowest 78 degrees. There was an advantage in being pretty close to hills 7,500 feet high, to which invalids were removed to save their lives. She gave accounts of the carrying of sick persons for more than 100 miles, and described the bullock carts and the litters in which the patients are carried. Madura being a dirty city, was always full of fever, and there was an advantage in having a hill station to retire to during April and May.

The population of southern India is very mixed and very superstitious, all demon worshippers. Even in Madura women are driven to the temple in hundreds, beaten on the way, to have the devils driven out of them. In the desert district the foreign women were considered as evil spirits; but the missionaries had a strong hold on the people in the use of medicine. There was a strong desire to learn to read and write, and the poor people in the country, never cared for, were readily won by kindness. Missionary work had been going on for 60 years in Madura, a city of 88,000, and few of the men there had not heard the gospel. There was preaching in the streets, a high school, a Y. W. C. A., five schools for girls and other places to hold meetings, and every Tuesday there was preaching at all of them. In street preaching the way of the native pundits was followed. There were three churches—one large and two small ones. There was the difficulty of caste, which precluded equality among the high and low.

The school work was most important, as the girls were taught now from five up to twelve years of age, as a new law prevented a man from demanding his wife before she was that age. Before it was ten. The child wives, as well as the child widows, were to be pitied, and the desire was to put into their hearts something that would comfort them. There were from 400 to 600 girls in the schools; the women read their Bibles at home, as their one book; but could not come out to the churches without losing caste and becoming outcasts. They did not object to their husbands doing so, and brought up their children to learn the Christian religion. By the training of girls, they became examples on their return to their villages in neatness and character. They gained the advantage of being able to wear a full dress, whereas the low class natives, not Christians, were not allowed to wear anything above their waists, outside the city.

At the request of Mrs. Brown, Miss Root showed her Indian dress and how to put it on. A long web of bright purple silk, with gold woven in at the border and with spots of gold put in by hand, was first thrown around the lower limbs and tied at the waist, leaving loose about half the length. Part of this was gathered as a pleat and tucked into the waist fold, the rest being thrown over one shoulder and under the other. This formed her house dress. For the street, a fold was thrown over the head, forming what is known as a full dress.

At the conclusion of her address of an hour, Miss Root was warmly received and thanked by the ladies present. She has a pleasant, musical voice, and speaks naturally and sensibly.

AN ENGLISH FINANCIAL OPINION

If the New York Central fails to attract the British tourist and induce him to travel over "America's Greatest Railroad," it cannot be laid at the door of the passenger department, which has issued one of the most voluminous illustrated guides we have seen dealing with the districts served by the system. It is like turning over a volume of Harper's or the Century, and we advise all those of our readers, who are thinking of crossing the Atlantic, to get a copy of the book at the European Agents, 35 Milk street, Cheapside, and not to forget to ask for the other pamphlets included in the "Four-Track Series." They are valuable as picture books alone, apart altogether from their business purpose.—Financial Times, London, Eng.

QUEER BUSINESS METHODS.

How the Affairs of the North American Building and Loan Association Were Conducted.

Columbus, Oct. 26.—The assignment of the North American Co-operative Building and Loan association at Dayton has behind it some interesting circumstances, which appear to be novelties in the running of such a concern. H. F. Celarius, state inspector of building and loan associations, was sent by the insurance department to examine into the condition of the association. He finished his work and then came a crash, the association going to the wall. Mr. Celarius' report shows the following:

The assets amounted to $4,353.63; liabilities, $7,918.15. The books were in an exceedingly tangled condition, having been in charge of an incompetent bookkeeper. The association was not properly organized, and was run in the interest of the officers only. Capital funds were used for the payment of running expenses, when the earnings should have been thus applied. They issued preferred non-assessable paid up stock. No bond was required of either secretary or treasurer. Persons were elected as directors who weren ot stockholders. Upon several occasions when the president and secretary were the only ones present at the directors' meeting, those two voted the proxies of the absentees. They declared dividends when there were no funds. At a meting in June the president and scretary voted themselves an increase of salary to $1,500. It took Mr. Celarius but a few days to discover that a unique plan was in operation, while the officers of the corporation concluded that it was time to retire. The assignment was made at once. This was all that the inspector desired, and he returned home to let the court settle the difficulties.

THE OLD ROMAN.

The Exhibition Not Complete Without His Picture.

Columbus, Oct. 26.—While Thorp's portraits of distinguished Ohians, painted for the Ohio building, were being admired at the Victoria hotel, at Chicago, last week, a general desire was expressed to see a strikingly characteristic portrait of "the grandest old Roman of them all." Responding to this wish, Thorp procured an easel and canvas and sat down in the Ohio headquarters with the crowd and excitement surging around him with an old photograph of Thurman in his hand, and painted in oil, from memory, a very striking and thoroughly characteristic portrait in one day, and placed it on the wall with other distinguished men. His work was considered by all a marvelous achievement, and delighted everybody. The portrait is so excellent that it will become permanently the property of the state, and may hereafter be seen by all interested in the Ohio library at Columbus.

Rice, of Toussant, who built her to carry fruit from his farm, in which trade he was employed last year. For about a week she has been out seining. Some of the yacht club boys talk of buying her; and if they do she will likely be overhauled and supplied with iron cordage.

STREET RAILWAY EMPLOYES.

Uniting the Unions Makes a Strong Body Here.

The Electric Street Railway Employes' union last night initiated four new members, and when the union is effected with the Horse Car Employes' union the resultant organization will have about 450 members in this city. The charter has been sent for, but may not arrive for some time, as the national union is a comparatively new body, having been organized only in September, with headquarters at Detroit. The local Horse Car Employes' union will meet on Friday evening.

The Carpenters' union will meet to-night, and a full attendance is expected, to hear and act upon the report of the committees on organization of a new union in East Toledo.

POSTAL RULINGS.

Official Information to Sending and Receiving Letters.

Among the rulings from the office of the first assistant postmaster general appearing in the last issue of the United States Official Postal Guide, are some of general interest. For instance:

A person who intends to make the carrying of letters periodically for hire his regular business, or part of his business, in opposition to the public carriers, is legally incapable of receiving authority to take letters out of the postoffice for that purpose, however such authority is attempted to be conferred.

The protection afforded by the postal laws does not extend to letters until they shall have been deposited at a postoffice, in a letter box, of other recepticle or place authorized by the postmaster general, or delivered to a mail carrier or letter carrier.

SUNDAY CLOSING.

The Clerks Strictly In It and Want Help.

Sunday closing was discussed last night at the meeting of the Retail Clerks' union, there appearing before that body a delegation from the Butchers' union and two from the Law and Order league, Rev. W. C. Hopkins, rector of Grace church, and Mr. J. T. Greer, to present the subject. It was decided that it would be well for the same delegations to present to the police board at its next meeting the advisability of inforcing the state law by the closing of butcher shops and groceries which keep open on Sunday. The retail clerks are greatly interested in the Sunday closing movement and are very willing that it should be extended. After a resolution of condolence to the family of the late Frank Shesler, a social session was held, at which light refreshments were served and a pleasant time spent.

NEW GAS MACHINE.

A Cheap Fuel Produced Simply From Coal Oil.

A. Noteman has in his office at the corner of Adams and Superior streets, a new invention which he calls a gas producer, and for which a patent will be issued on November 8. The generator consists simply of a small cylinder about three feet high, like a stove pipe, with lid on top. In the bottom of this flame of any kind is placed, and oil is allowed to drip through a pipe into the upper chamber, where it is volatilized and converted into a rich gas. The flame below and the drip if oil can be regulated so as to produce any amount of gas and any pressure, so long as the flow of oil is not too rapid for the generating flame. The gas produced can be piped readily, carried to a stove and lighted, it burns brightly, and throws out a remarkable heat. The small generator used in the office, it is claimed, will produce from 8,000 to 10,000 cubic feet of gas per day, and experiments made have proven that a ten-gallon can of oil will heat the two fairly good-sized rooms for 30 days. The apparatus is automatic, and can be applied anywhere, to dwellings, railroads, steamboats, furnaces or any kind of heating apparatus, as any amount of flame or fire desired can be had by merely increasing the size of the generator. Mr. Noteman pipes some of the gas from the generator at his house for illuminating purposes, and finds it to answer very well.

TOLEDO AND THE CENSUS

If It Is Not More Correct in General

Than With Regard to This City, Then a Pile of Money Has Been Thrown Away.

O, consistency, thou art a jewel, but this particular jewel does not embellish the crown of the Blade.

For instance, the following appeared in the news columns of the Blade of yesterday under the sensational caption of "Prosperity of Toledo; census figures show it."

"Washington, Oct. 25.—The census office yesterday issued preliminary bulletins on the mechanical and manufacturing industries of Toledo O.; Allegheny, Pa.; and Canton, O.

"The number of establishments reported for Toledo were 96; capital invested, $630,344; number of hands employed, 399, wages paid $141,724; cost of products at works, $322,026. The percentage of increase of establishments over 1880 was 24.77; capital, 80.94 per cent.; wages paid, 73.84 per cent. and value of product of works 38.14."

Then the editorial columns put on a finishing touch as follows:

"The census bulletin of the industries of Toledo is in itself a rebuke to the free trade party of this city and district. It shows that the number of industrial establishments in the city has increased 24.77 per cent. for 1880 to 1890; that the capital invested increased 80.94 per cent., the wages paid increased 73.48 per cent., and the value of the products of manufacture increased 38.14 per cent."

It would have been well for the writer of the telling comment to have read the "preliminary bulletin," before chasing that protection shadow.

The number of establishments reported for Toledo is 96. This is simply absurd. In 1880 there were over 600 manufactories in Toledo.

"Capital invested, $630 344."

Toledo's manufactories at this price would be a rare bargain. There is the Milburn Wagon works, in which more than half a million dollars are invested, to say nothing of the rolling mills, malleable iron works, flouring mills, bicycle works, spice works, and many other mammoth concerns.

"Number of hands employed, 399."

The Milburn Wagon works alone employes over 1,000 men.

Then the argument that the number of industrial establishments in the city has increased 24.77 per cent. from 1880 to 1890, and based on such rot as the "preliminary bulletin from headquarters at Washington," is in keeping with the other bold statements.

When the next campaign bugaboo is sent out by the bosses at Washington it would be wise to check up figures.

America Named.

It was not until 1837 that Alexander Von Humboldt, in his "Critical Examination of the History and Geography of the New Worlds," pointed out the real culprit, and showed beyond question that the name "America" was first suggested in a small Latin treatise on cosmography, written by one Martin Waldseemuller, and published during the year 1507 at Saint Die, a village situated in the upper valley of the river Meurthe, in Southeastern Lorraine. This little book was entitled "Cosmographiae Introductio"—Introduction to Cosmography—and the story of its authorship and publication, and the unforeseen part that it played in christening the western hemisphere, forms one of the most curious narratives in the whole record of bibliography, writes Frank H. Mason, in Harper's Magazine. Whether Humboldt made this interesting discovery by mere accident of research, or was led to it by Foscarini or Bandini—who in two successive editions of "Solinus" had noted the suggestive passages in the Cosmographiae, without apparently comprehending the real importance—cannot now be ascertained. However this may have been, it was the author of "Cosmos" who first took up seriously the task of vindicating the long-maligned Florentine, and in so doing threw into the arena a topic in the discussion of which bibliographers have ransacked libraries, labored and disputed, until the whole line of evidence has been developed, arranged, and the demonstration made complete. A publication which in the dim early twilight of American history made the little hamlet of Saint Die the godmother of our mighty continent is an object of no ordinary interest to Americans, and this fourth centenary of Columbus' discovery would seem to be a fitting moment in which to bring together in simple narrative from the substance of what is known concerning the "Cosmographiae," itself, the men by whom it was written and published, the place where they lived and the motive by which their work was inspired.

AUTUMN STOVES.

In putting up autumn stoves it is well to recall the superiority of a zinc platform about an inch in thickness over the old-fashioned flat piece of zinc. When the stove is raised a little in this way the dust does not collect under it so easily. There is no rough edge to cut the hand of the scrubber and to spring up and to leave a crevice under which dust is sure to gather. This method of mounting the stove should certainly be insisted on in the kitchen and it costs but a trifle more than the ordinary sheet of zinc. In fact, any clever workman can make such a platform. It is merely made of one thickness of board covered firmly with zinc at the top and over all the edges. It is well to avoid all zinc covered with corrugations or other places sunken in it for ornament sake. The smoother and plainer the zinc is the better. It is well for housekeepers to remember in purchasing zinc that there are two qualities of this metal, the light and the heavy zinc.

NOT A COMPLETE TRANSFORMATION.

She is home again,
She blew in yesterday
On a gale from up the lakes
As she came up from the dock
There were traces of the Summer girl
About her. She had a few pet freckles
On her nose, and her neck
Was tanned just a little bit.
There was something about her clothes, too,
That echoed the last few shivering days
At a popular Summer hotel,
With no fire and a splendid breeze.
Twenty minutes after she got home
The freckles had retired from business,
The tan had given place to a snowy whiteness,
And her dress looked fit for any one's reception;
But her nose was still red,
And her finger nails a trifle blue.

Columbus is everywhere and the very winds seem to shout his name. Even the yacht clubs talk of having lectures on the voyage of Columbus, and before the winter is over some of them may be debating the question "Was Columbus much of a sailor?"

Mrs. Martha A. Hogen, Mrs. Mary A. Fassett and Mrs. Sarah A. Fassett, triplets, were present at a celebration at Waltham, Mass., the other day. They are 69 years old, and say they worked when girls in a cotton mill in which General Banks was a bobbin boy.

Dr. Frankel, a well-known author of Weimar, Germany, had the temerity to criticise a German army officer publicly last summer, because he had forced his men to take long marches in the great heat, thus causing the death of one soldier. The doctor has been arraigned and fined $35.

Wheat is a native of Asia, and after many centuries of cultivation in its original "habitat," gradually spread to the land of Palestine, thence to Eurpoe, and later to America. For centuries it was regarded as a food for the rich only, but its ever increasing abundance has made it a food for all.

Milk can easily be tested for foreign taints by heating a small quantity to a temperature of 110 or 115 degrees. At this temperature it will be very easy for the average nose to tell what, if anything, is the matter with the milk. Milk tested in this way will reveal the hog pen, the cow stable, filthy cans and various other taints.

The lazzaroni of Naples have gone on strike, their demands being limited to daily gratuitous distribution of macaroni. "If these demands are granted," says the chief of police, "trouble may be expected, for their latest threat is that they will not go to work unless they get their free macaroni."

Theodore Louis, the great Wisconsin authority on swine breeding and feeding, says that through partial starvation and injudicious feeding a pair of pigs which he had sent to one of his customers the owner in a single year had starved out all the thoroughbredness which he had been 10 years feeding into them.

We see it stated that in Norway the farmers yearly elect two men before whom all parties in dispute lay their grievances. The sessions are held privately, and no legal aid is called in. Twenty-five per cent. of the cases presented are settled in this primitive court, thereby saving much ill-feeling and layers' fees.

Many years ago Edgar Allan Poe said that Tennyson was "the most ethereal poet of this or any other age;" Thackeray declared him to be the wisest man he knew; George Eliot said that his dramas "ran Shakespeare's close," and Dickens, reading his poems by the seashore, exclaimed "What a great creature he is!"

Hartleigh, the sculptor, has nearly completed his heroic statue of Ericsson, and those who have visited his studio in New York city declare that it is one of the finest works of art of the sort ever made in this country. The statue will probably be completed in bronze in the spring, when there will be appropriate dedication ceremonies.

The chaff of grain is nature's way of protecting seed between the time it falls to the ground and that for it to grow again. Now that grain is stored in barns or stacks the chaff is scarcely less necessary. It is often noted in threshing damp grain that the straw may be almost rotted where the band went around the bundle, yet the grain will shell out with little apparent injury.

Experiments were recently made to determine which portion of a hide of leather give the best results when made into belting. Four strips, each 18 inches long and two inches wide were cut and carefully tested in a machine. One piece from the center of the hide broke at a strain of 2,490 pounds, equal to 14,940 pounds per foot of width, while the strip from the upper parted at 1,180 pounds.

Marie Bashkirtseff's tomb in the cemetery at Passy is a place of pilgrimage. On the tomb are inscribed the titles of Marie's works of painting and sculpture, and within is a roomy apartment handsomely furnished. Carpets, chairs, footstools, cushions, bric-a-brac and draperies once used by her are there, as well as her portrait in stained glass and her bust surrounded by palms and surmounted by a wreath.

Senator Hill is doing splendid work for Grover Cleveland.

Vote for the nominees on the democratic county ticket. They are capable, honest and worthy.

Byron Ritchie's meetings are largely attended and enthusiastic, while Ashley's are quite the reverse.

Bets are being offered that New York city will give Cleveland 95,000 majority. That will do first rate.

Grand Marshal W. I. Squire, of Toledo, will address the republicans of Sandusky to-night. The pyrotechnics will fly.

Mr. Ashley has not yet replied to Mr. E. D. Potter's statement, over his own signature, on the lower town park question. Why?

Comparison will be made in Ohio on election night with the vote when Gov. McKinley was elected by a majority of 21,000.

Jake Kohn will be Lucas county's next recorder. Any one who reads the signs of the times can determine this fact. Vote for Jake Kohn.

Cleveland's administration cost the people $6.12 per capita, while the Harrison figures up to $7.01, quite a difference in favor of Mr. Cleveland.

Byron Ritchie will address the people at Freeport this evening, and will keep his opponent on the move during his pilgrimage through Wood county.

This is Senator Edmunds' opinion of Mr. Cleveland: "He is a strong, able man, honest and courageous." And with this opinion the people generally agree.

Governor Ashley will campaign in Wood county the rest of the week. From the reports received, he can apply himself with profit over there. As the song goes, "they're after him."

Blaine eases his conscience by writing a paid article on the political situation for one of the magazines. J. G.'s enthusiasm, as well as that of his followers, is not at a very high pitch this time.

Capt. McMaken should keep the Cadets in readiness to move at a moment's notice, with their wheels, to the capital of the state, to quell the insurrection in the adjutant general's office. War is imminent.

In a note to the Bee this morning, Chairman Harrity of the national democratic committee, says: "The general outlook is very satisfactory and grows better every day." This will be gratifying news to the democrats in this section.

It is all settled now. Chauncey Depew, the doctor, says there will be no change in the administration, as the people do not want any. Chauncey mingles so much with the people, hence his knowledge as to their preferences.

Senator Roger Q. Mills is to deliver a speech in Cleveland for Tom Johnson. What's the matter with him dropping over to Toledo and giving Byron Ritchie a send off? The senator has many admirers in the Future Great.

Even Pennsylvania is now being figured on for Cleveland. Protection does not protect in the Keystone state, at least in the neighborhood of Homestead, where the workingmen have been receiving a practical illustration of McKinleyism.

Ottawa county democrats will greet their party associates in the Ninth district with fully 2,000 majority for Byron Ritchie, which will be a much greater number of votes than Ashley will have to spare in Lucas, Wood and Fulton counties.

A straw as to the way the wind is blowing. C. W. Williams, republican nominee for sheriff in Mason county, Ky., has notified the county clerk not to place his name on ballot, as he was going to help elect the democratic nominee and the rest of the ticket.

Government employes will rejoice when the present campaign is over. Appeals for money have come from all kinds of committees—national, state and county, besides the local ward and other organizations. "Marked for life," is the penalty for refusal.

Voters should rebuke the unfair gerrymander made by the Ohio legislature last winter, when the democratic vote was massed in five districts and the republican scattered over sixteen. Toledo is one of the changed districts. Vote for Ritchie.

Looks as if T. R. Morgan, republican nominee in the Youngstown district, would be defeated notwithstanding the majority on his side. The iron and steel workers have some scores to settle with Mr. Morgan—something similar to those of the railroaders in this section against Ashley.

It is cause for comment that but few Germans were in the Ashley parade on Monday night. Dr. Smith and other party workers were missed from the ranks. Of course, the Ashley managers can get along without the Doctor and his friends, but the result will develop later on.

Judge Scribner does not need encomiums at present. His public and private life has been of a character to attach the people to him, and on the 8th of November he will be re-elected to serve for six years on the circuit bench, a position he has occupied since the creation of the court.

Governor McKinley disappointed Defiance republicans on Monday, by failing to appear and make his usual speech on the beauties of Bill's bill. This, too, in the face of the assurance of a committee who went to Columbus to secure the governor's presence, and who were received on their return with a brass band because of their success.

Tammany hall last night showed the democrats of the country how to ratify. Governor Flower presided and Senator Hill was the chief speaker. Never in the history of politics was there such an outpouring of enthusiastic democrats. And in addition to Tammany Hall it took twelve overflow meetings to entertain the vast assemblage. New York will give Cleveland a rousing majority.

The tocsin has sounded, let the troops move. Ashley and victory! –Blade.

Daniel Webster says "tocsin" means "an alarm bell, or the ringing of a bell for the purpose of alarm." It is generally understood that consternation prevails in the ranks of the republican party and James M. Ashley has every reason to sound the "tocsin" and get under cover. Truly, the "tocsin" has sounded.

Ashley's record on appropriations for the Toledo harbor is not such as the people would like to have repeated. He secured, during his ten years in congress, the magnificent sum of $20,000 out of the more than a million dollars invested. He has frequently declared that he had no use for Toledo, and it is pretty certain that the feeling will be reciprocated on the second Tuesday in November.

Republican organs, early in the campaign, strutted around with a chip on their shoulder, daring their esteemed democratic contemporaries to take up the fight on the tariff issue. They were blindly worshiping at the shrine of a tin god, but as the day of judgment approaches their eyes are opened by an overwhelming flood of light and reason. They see the error of their way, and in agony of hopeless despair, there comes a wail as though from a soul lost in perdition, "Wild cat banks."

ASHLEY, THE CHAMELEON.

As a political chameleon, J. M. Ashley has no peer in Ohio, if in American politics.

Even the Blade, now virtuously indignant over the so-called attacks on Mr. Ashley, was once moved to remark of its present candidate:

"Corrupt and shameless conduct in employing his official position to secure the appointment of a man to an important territorial office for the avowed and exclusive purpose of feathering his own nest with ill-gotten and illegal gains."—Blade, Sept. 18, 1862.

In yesterday's issue the organ on the corner waxes wroth and proclaims the sacredness of the "golden calf" in this wise:

"He (Ashley) faithfully and ably performed his duty when there (congress) to the credit of himself, his party, the district which he represented, and to the union. During his long service there was not the shadow of dishonor resting on his record, and aside from the common slurs and personal invectives by which he has been dishonorably assailed in this city, the place of his home, his acts in congress stand out in bold relief before the civilized world as indicating the highest standard and qualities of statesmanship in character and results."

Has the "corrupt and shameless" politician of 30 years ago been absolved by changing his coat or purified by contact with the unscrupulous manipulators of the republican party?

A DESPERATE GAME.

The Cleveland Leader has been imposed upon by the desperate friends of E. G. Johnson, who is contesting a congressional seat with Congressman Harter, in the Fourteenth district. It printed yesterday an alleged fac simile letter to the manager of a manufactory in Canton directing the withdrawal of the company's deposit so as to escape taxation. The letter is promptly pronounced a forgery. There was a letter directing the manager to remember that the company was bankrupt, and any mere daily cash balance was not a true balance for assessment purposes. The leading republican business men of Canton sign a circular exonerating Mr. Harter.

But the Bee's Tiffin special to-day is not a forgery. Court records are not impeachable.

SECOND WARD COUNCILMAN.

Proclamation Issued for Election of Tanner's Successor.

Proclamation has been issued by the mayor for an election in the Second ward to fill the vacancy in the city council caused by the resignation of Mr. Tanner. This election is to be on the same day as the regular election. With this end in view, to save expense and trouble, the proclamation was delayed as long as possible, that some more of the councilmen might take it into their head to resign, in which case it was desirable to hold all the elections on the same day.

BUILDING OPERATIONS.

Ground Broken for the Swift Building—Henahan Gets a Contract.

Yesterday ground was broken for the new Swift building on Erie street. As stated in the Bee Saturday, the contract was awarded to Mr. Richard Hattersley & Son, and that fact assures a good structure. It is to be of pressed brick and stone, 60x100 feet. The cost is $16,000.

Yesterday Mr. M. Henahan was awarded the contract for putting in the foundation of the new Newton building, corner of Perry and St. Clair streets. It promises to be a fine building.

Prohibition Speaker Denounces Ashley's Drunkard Making.

Beer Flowed Freely for Monday Night's Paraders.

Minors, Filled Up With Beer in the Wards, Spent the Money Paid Them in Down-Town Saloons.

The prohibitionists of the East Side held a rally last night in Weber's hall. Mr. L. A. Brown presided, and in a few words introduced the principal speaker, Mr. C. W. Selner., who spoke for an hour.

He paid his respects to the old parties, complaining that the democracy opposes all sumptuary legislation, and that the republican party is hypocritical in its pretenses. He showed that the only real temperance legislation in Ohio had been by the democrats, and that the republicans had torn it to pieces.

He referred to the Ashley parade of Monday night in scathing terms, speaking of the giving of $1 apiece to men for carrying torches, with the stipulation that they could have their fill of beer in the saloons of their ward free of charge, and of the making drunk in this way of boys, whereby, he declared, as much harm was done in one night as in twenty saloons in twelve months. Once drunk, the young fellows spent what was paid them in other saloons down town.

Mr. Selner compared the money value to the people at large of the tariff and prohibition issues, spoke of other principles of the prohibition party, of its increasing vote east and west, and of the duty of voters, who were more to blame for the evils of the liquor traffic than are the saloon keepers. He closed by urging his voting hearers to support Leet for congress, Frederick for recorder, and the full prohibition ticket.

Mr. Frederick spoke briefly, referring to President Harrison's acceptance of a barrel of Scotch whisky from a friend in Europe; to Ashley's untrustworthiness and to Jacob Romeis' vineyard card in a former election. He compared Hicksville, where there is prohibition, with Antwerp, eight miles away, greatly at the expense of Antwerp, a wide-open town.

Messrs. Selner and Frederick speak at Sylvania to-night.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Ashley's Wage List—A Little Thin.

To the Editor: On Monday, the 17th, in the Blade, Hon. James Ashley, to show how good wages he is paying his railroad men, gives up a lot of figures which on their face look very plausible. After they are investigated they show they have been considerably juggled. For instance, item second, "Engineer P. Reinhart, 5,078 miles in passenger, $116.79," or about 2.3 cents per mile. On the Wabash and most of the other leading roads firemen on passenger trains receive 2 cents per mile (the freight firemen receive more), which would amount to $101.56, or nearly as much as the Ann Arbor passenger engineer. But when you compare this rate with that of the Wabash, Lake Shore and Michigan Central, which pay at least 3 1-2 cents per mile to their passenger engineers, the discrepency appears still more prominent.

At this rate for Reinhart's milage he would have $177.73. But this is very seldom earned by any engineer. The mileage required, 5,078, is enough to kill almost any man.

Mr. Ashley was careful not to attach a certificate of Mr. Reinhart's health. All the other roads, not herein mentioned, running into this city, pay at least 3 cents per mile to their passenger engineers, which for the 5,078 miles amounts to $152.34 instead of generous Mr. Ashley's "profit sharing" $116.79 for an exceptional run, or $35.55 short.

Item three, "C. F. Arves, 3,016 miles in freight, 1 1-2—3 hours, $113.98." This run at 4 cents per mile, the rate for freight engineers on other roads, would be $120.64, and the 1 1-2 hours extra and 10 miles 60 cents, or $121.24 instead of the above $113.98, or $7.36 short. This is also another exceptional run and another certificate of health is needed.

It runs the same with the fireman. Take, for instance, item first, firemen. "F. E. Harrington, 5,197 miles in passenger, $62.58," or about 1.2 cents per mile. The other roads entering here pay 2 cents per mile, or at their rate Mr. Harrington would have received $103.94 instead of receiving $62.58, where he is $40.36 short. This is also a very long run, and yet another health certificate missing.

As a matter of fact the Ann Arbor road pays much less in proportion than even Mr. Ashley intimates.

The wages of conductors and brakemen, instead of being so high as truthful (spare the mark) Jim Ashley states, are subject to the same criticism as that for the engineers and firemen.

I want the "Immortal J. M." to understand that we railroad engineers are not such idiots as to swallow such stuff. I have been many years on the rail as a locomotive engineer and I know what I am talking about. If "Windy Jim" expects us railroad republicans to vote for him on such a showing as this, he is very much mistaken.

Boodle and torchlight processions don't count.

Good, honest, sound principle is what we want. A RAILROADER.

Second Ward Democrats.

There will be a meeting of the Second ward democrats to-night for the purpose of nominating a councilman to fill the unexpired term of Councilman Tanner, resigned. The meeting will be held at W. A. Gashe's office, near the Wheeling depot, and should be largely attended.

ASHLEY TOASTED

By the Organ of the Cleveland Democracy.

Yesterday's Cleveland Plain Dealer has the following as to the candidates in the Ninth district, which makes good reading:

The democratic candiate for congress in the Toledo district is making a brilliant campaign. He is young, eloquent and progressive, and has for a competitor old Gen. Jim Ashley, who has belonged to every party, having been Know-Nothing, democrat, and republican. He was sent to congress first by a union of Know-Nothings and republicans, and he was the main instrument in attempting to secure the impeachment of Andrew Johnson in order that Ben Wade should be made president. The scheme failed, and after Grant was elected president, Ashley flopped and became a democrat. He ran for nomination for congress against Frank H. Hurd, and was beaten. This soured the old man on the democracy, and two years ago he turned up as the republican candiate in his district against Col. William E. Haynes, the gallant democratic soldier from Fremont. He was badly beaten by the colonel, but is this year the republican candidate in a new district. Like "Col." Hodge, the great Ashley declines to meet the young democratic leader on the stump. Ashley boasts that he was an intimate friend of "Abraham Lincoln,' who freed the slaves." Mr. Ritchie, in closing his speech at Oak Harbor the other evening, said:

"Our platform is broad enough and strong enough for every honest man to stand upon its stable planks. The life, the career, and the devotion to duty of Grover Cleveland is a platform of itself. It has been the proud boast of the republican party that "it struck the shackls from the limbs of the black man." Let it be our boast that through the instrumentality of tariff reform, and the leadership of Cleveland and Stevenson, we have given relief from unjust taxation to millions of our countrymen, both black and white."

If the people of the Toledo district want to be represented by an old braggart and blowhard, who has faced all ways, on all political questions, then they will vote for Ashley. If they want a man of vim, vivacity, a man of the people, who will interest himself in their interests, they will vote for Ritchie.

JIM LUCKEY, SIR.

He Predicts a Land-Slide in Ottawa.

Richie Will Pile Up the Usual Majority to Two Thousand.

Jim Luckey, of Ottawa county, was in Toledo yesterday and it was cold comfort he brought to the hearts of the Ashleyites.

Asked by a republican in the Boody house what the political prospects were up in little Ottawa, Jim shook his head dolefully.

"Confidentially," he said, "They are d—d bad. There are no meetings except democratic, and things are torn up generally."

"Won't Ashley hold his own?"

"No, he won't. Ritchie is going to add to the usual big majority and I'm afraid Ashley's presence, if he comes, will only make confusion worse confounded."

How is this for good republican authority?

Duped by a Cripple.

During the summer months the passengers of the various pleasure boats were appealed to for aid by an unfortunate youth who had lost a leg, and was, as he said, endeavoring to collect enough money to buy a cork leg. The boy's name is Harvey Ames, and he has just been arrested at Detroit in company with another boy named Sullivan.

At Detroit it was learned that Ames' home it at Norwalk. He is only 13 years of age, and has for two years been going around the country soliciting subscriptions to aid him in buying a cork leg. The boys say he averages from $4 to $6 per day, and says Sullivan helps spend the money. Sullivan was arrested later, and walked to the station on crutches, but after a brief interview with the sergeant his crutches were abandoned and the cripple was no more.

Baby's Fearful Suffering from Skin Disease Covering Entire Body Cured by Cuticura.

My baby was taken very sick when he was three months old, and in a few days began breaking out. We employed both of the home doctors, and they could do nothing for him. Then we went for the best doctor in Eaton Rapids, Mich., and he doctored him for two weeks, and he got worse all the time; and then I took him to Jackson, to a doctor who attends especially to skin diseases and then he got worse than ever. Then I told my husband we had better try the CUTICURA REMEDIES any way; did not have any idea they would do any good, but in less than two months from the time we began giving them to him he was entirely well and not a spot on him. His hair began growing right off, and we thought h would always be baldheaded. There was not a spot on his whole body, face and head, only his nose and eyes but what was as raw as beef-steak. So poor there was not anything but bones, and so weak he could raise neither hand nor head.

The Pennsylvania Officials Will Boom Toledo.

They Agree That the Improvements Should Be Made Here—Other Local Railroad News.

The extension of the Pennsylvania railroad from Toledo to the coal fields will be completed shortly and a great amount of coal will come to this port to be shipped by lake. The business promises to be enormous. The principal object of the trip of the Pennsylvania officials to Toledo yesterday was to look the field over and decide on what should be done.

A Bee saw one of the local officials this morning and asked what the outcome of the visit would be.

"They have decided to make some great changes here," was the answer. "Toledo will then be one of the most important points on the whole system."

"Did they decide on just what would be done?"

"No, but they will hold a meeting shortly and do that. This trip was merely to look about and take in the actual situation of things so that they might act intelligently when the meeting came off. They did say, however, that extensive improvements would be made here and that at once, particularly to promote their coal business.

Lots of money will be expended here, and it will be a big thing for Toledo all around.

THE CLOVER LEAF

Secures a $300,000 Property in St. Louis

And Will Build Large Freight Houses in the Heart of the City Proper.

The Toledo, St. Louis & Kansas City railroad is on the boom as usual. Property valued at $300,000 has just been leased with the option of purchasing if desired, right in the heart of St. Louis proper, fronting on one of the principal streets—Broadway—and commodious freight houses are to be erected at once, so that merchandise can be handled without ferrying across the river. The freight will enter the city over the new merchants' bridge.

The property and terminals in East St. Louis will not be done away with, but will also be enlarged and improved. The business of the road has increased so rapidly of late that these changes have been forced upon the company. Next year promises to be the most prosperous in the history of the road.

COMMENT FROM ENGLAND.

The Death of Mrs. Harrison Mourned Abroad.

London, Oct. 26.—The Times says of the death of Mrs. Harrison:

"The death of Mrs. Harrison is an event of more than ordinary importance, inasmuch as her husband's success may in a very large degree be ascribed to her. Wide in her culture, catholic in her ideas and tastes, she broadened her circle of friends with advancing years. Her death will cause genuine and widespread sorrow."

The Chronicle says: "Very great sympathy with President Harrison will be felt everywhere. Mrs. Harrison was the counterpart of her husband, whose private character is admired and respected even by his political enemies."

The Daily News expresses admiration of Mrs. Harrison's courage in going to Washington when she knew her illness was fatal, adding: "She had won the regard of the American nation by her worth of character and devotion to her husband."

DAMAGE SUITS

Growing Out of a Recent Strike by Stage Employes.

Cincinnati, Oct. 26.—Two suits of far reaching importance were filed yesterday by John H. Havlin, the theatrical manager of the Walnut Street Theater company. They are each for $50,000 damages and for an injunction. Both suits are against labor organizations and are based on the recent strike by the stage employes, ordered by the Stage Employes' union and supported by the Carpenters' union, the Amalgamated Council of Building Trades, and the Central Labor council.

FRANK JANES RESIGNS

To Become Commissioner of Colorado's Traffic

Association, With Headquarters at Denver—A Brief Sketch of His Connection With the Pennsylvania Co.

The many friends of Frank Janes, who for the past 20 years has been the division freight agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad company in this city, will regret to learn that he has resigned from the service of that company. Mr. Janes entered the service of the Pennsylvania railroad at Toledo on the completion of the northwestern Ohio extension, as agent, and was shortly afterwards promoted to the position of general agent, and from that to division freight agent, and has rendered long and faithful service to the company.

He has accepted the position of commissioner of the Colorado Traffic association, with headquarters at Denver. This move was made only after long and serious consideration. The inducements offered by the citizens of Denver were too tempting to resist.

His final trip over the Toledo division was made yesterday with President Roberts and his party.

The circular announcing his successor has not yet been issued, but it is rumored that he is well and favorably known in this city.

Mr. Janes will remove with his family soon.

Pool Sellers Get the Worst of a Decision.

St. Louis, Oct. 26.—J. H. Townsend, manager of the Mercantile Telegraph company, will have to pay his fine of $1,000, the court of appeals having decided that the court of criminal correction did not err in its decision between a legitimate telegraph business and pool selling on horse races.

This is the outcome of an effort made last summer to evade the provisions of the law prohibiting pool selling in Missouri on races run outside the state, and is a vindication of Chief Harrigan, who claimed the Mercantile Telegraph concern was a gambling device.

UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 26.—The supreme court yesterday rendered a decision declaring unconstitutional the registration law.

The case was appealed from Hendricks county and the decision of the lower court was affirmed. The registration features of the law were made to apply chiefly to commercial travelers and residents of the state absent in the employ of the government. The grounds on which the law is held to be a violation of the constitution is that it is class legislation.

BROKE DOWN AT SEA.

San Francisco, Oct. 26.—Information reached here yesterday that the steamer Elsie of the North American Commercial company, which was reported missing at Sitka, broke down 100 miles east of Nuchigak and the passengers and crew, together with the mails, were safely removed by steamer Samo.

TO MRS. HARRISON.

By James Whitcomb Riley.

I.

Now utter calm and rest,
Hands folded o'er the breast
In peace the placidest.
  All trial past,
All fever soothed,
All pain annulled
In heart and brain,
Never to vex again
  She sleeps at last.

II.

She sleeps, but O, most dear
And best beloved of her
Ye sleep not,—nay, nor stir,
  Save but to bow
The closer each to each,
With sobs, and broken speech,
That all in vain beseech
  Her answer now.

III.

And lo, we weep with you—
One grief the wide world through—
Yet with the faith she knew,
  We see her still,
Even as here she stood,—
All that was pure and good
And sweet in womanhood,—
  God's will her will.

GOSSIP FROM THE OUTSIDE PRESS.

The Prosperity of Protection.

High tariff papers are making money in Philadelphia. One of them comes out with fifteen columns of extra advertising—all sheriff's sales.—N. Y. Herald.

Mr. Quay is still the lost babe in the woods. The other republicans on the national committee will take to the woods after the election.—St. Louis Republic.

The Way It Has Worked.

"The present tariff has worked well," echoes the vice presidential candidate of the grand old party. Yes; in the sense that it has worked its victims almost for their full worth.—Philadelphia Record.

The Last Obstacle Removed.

Let the republican campaign proceed. The New York Tribune not only indorses Mr. Reid's letter of acceptance, but it thinks it is a much stronger document than Cleveland's.—Washington Post.

Only an Echo.

If you hear a faint little Tar-rar-ra-Boom-de-aye rattling down the corridors of time like a beam in the bung-hole of a barrel, don't be astonished. It may only be an echo from the Populist party, which is trying to maintain some show of life, till election day.—Macon News.

Is Using Proper Caution.

Chairman Hackett, of New York, now gets his hosts of lieutenants into a back room, locks the doors, plugs the keyholes, pulls down the blinds, and issues his mandates in a stage whisper. His experience with that blocks-of-one letter, together with Dave Martin's advice, made the chairman crafty.—Detroit Free Press.

In the Shape of a Roast.

FireAlarm Foraker has spoken in Brooklyn. The Eagle of that city—a paper that is notably courteous in its treatment of prominent republicans—read his speech, and then remarked among other things: "He (Foraker) is a picturesque and melancholy proof of the moral ruin and moral rot which have befallen the organization, of which the saint and summit was Lincoln and the slime and the sediment is himself."—Rochester Herald.

Time to Stop Braying.

Perhaps the know-nothing cranks who were prophesying all sorts of un-American utterances from Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Ireland will now stop their asinine braying. The two gentlemen who represented Rome in the dedicatory services—and what interest had a better right of representation?—were not only dignified, conservative and brilliant in their utterances, but distinctively, nobly and enthusiastically American and patriotic.—Chicago Times.

There is Much to Think.

This is a quiet campaign; but all the indications point to a careful voting. When the people stop to think they don't go wrong. They may be hurrahed into mistakes, but their sober verdicts are sure to be right.—Newark Advocate.

And Votes Will Tell.

According to Mr. Harrison the McKinley bill is better understood by the people than it was a year ago. Of course it is, and especially by the farmers. Then they were told it increased the price and exportation of wheat, and now they know it decreased the price and exportation of that cereal.—Tiffin Advertiser.

Last Wail of a Tortured Soul.

The "wildcat" money scare which McKinley and other republican leaders are trying to inaugurate is but an innocent little kitten compared with the tariff tiger that is sucking the blood of the nation. The little stuffed wildcat will not divert the attention of the people from the tariff monster that is eating their vitals. The trick is too transparent to work.—Springfield Democrat.

Ingratitude Cuts Deep.

The republican workers who labored hard and industriously to carry Ohio for Harrison four years ago, who in fact have done the hard work of their party for many years, expected, as they had a right to, that their claims would be recognized in the distribution of the federal offices among them. Was this done? Look over the entire list of appointments, and not a man of the hard working element, who labored for other than selfish motives, can be found among them.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

An Object Lesson.

Farmer Wickham, who has always been boasting of the great benefits of the tariff to the farmer, got an eye opener this morning. He bought two woolen shirts (of course on credit) for $5.50. The tariff on that class of goods is 60 per cent., and when it was explained to the farmer that although he had paid $5.50 for two shirts he had a very inferior article after all: that the intrinsic value of his shirts was $2.20; that he got $2.20 worth of shirts and $3.30 worth of tariff; in other words, that he had been robbed by the republican tariff, known as the McKinley bill, of $3.30, he exclaimed: "We put down the rebellion and saved the union, and don't you forget it!"—Bucyrus Forum.

THE BEST IS THE CHEAPEST!

Official Test of Rubber-Lined Cotton Fire Hose by the Board of Fire Commissioners of Duluth, Minn., February 25, 1892.

The Board of Fire Commissioners of the city of Duluth, Minn., recently received proposals from manufacturers of fire hose to furnish the city with additional hose for fire department service.

Owing to the fact that every agent present upon that occasion, claimed to represent the ONLY brand of hose that could be depended upon to dischage the greatest quantity of water, all other conditions being equal, the commissioners finally resolved to satisfy themselves, and declared in favor of having a public test. Manufacturers who desired to enter the test were requested to furnish 500 feet of hose, with Duluth fire department couplings attached.

Seven competitors entered the field. Each line of hose—500 feet—was attached to a steam fire engine, and subjected to a water pressure of 200 lbs. to the square inch, and discharged water through 1 1-8-inch smooth bore nozzle. Note the result:

Name of Company	Brand of Hose.	Weight of Hose per Section	Effective Pressure at Nozzle	Gall'ns Dis-ch'rg'd per Minute	Ratio in Gals Dis-ch'rg'd per Hr.	No. of gals less per hr. than dis-ch'd by the surprise hose.	Elongation of Hose.

Gutta Percha Mfg. Co	Baker Fabric	48¾ lbs	85 lbs	389	20 340	12.0	31 ft
Fabric Fire Hose Co	Unique Jacket	63¾ lbs	4 lbs	387	2[illegible]	15.0	25 ft
Chicago Fire Hose Co.	National Jacket	61 lbs	83½ lbs	334	20,0[illegible]	15	41 ft
Levere Rubber Co	American Jacket	62¼ lbs	[illegible]	329	19.7[illegible]0	14.0	14 ft
Boston Woven Hose Co	Boston [illegible] Jacket	52 lbs	19 lb	[illegible]7	19 6[illegible]0	[illegible]	[illegible] ft

Owing to a high wind prevailing during the test, the distance reached by each stream was not taken into consideration.

The "Surprise" hose not only showed the best results at the nozzle but delivered the greatest quantity of water, and stretched less than any other hose that entered the test.

THE CASE OF FARMER DOW

Was the Henry County Farmer Murdered?

A Wife Puts in An Entry in Court.

She Would Like to Have Some of the Money Left by the Missing Farmer.

Napoleon, O., Oct. 26.—(Special)—Crime as a general thing is not allowed to stalk persistently forth in enlightened communities, where law and order and protection against menace is supposed to exist, but while Napoleon claims a civilization and local government second to none, there is a matter that has long since remained in a condition of lethargy that manifests the glaring possibility of there being an exception to all rules.

There is hardly a level headed business or professional man here possessed of the facts in the case who does not sincerely believe that a once respected and well-to-do farmer in Freedom township is the victim of a murder most foul.

Curtis L. Dow, familiarly called "Doc," is his name, and it was a name whose owner stood high among his neighbors.

Last evening a prominent lawyer, W. P. Tyler, in conversation with a Bee reporter, stated that the former wife of Curtis Dow, living in the southern part of Ohio, was taking steps to secure her dower.

About nine months since the Bee representative at Napoleon came into possession of facts and an expose of the same followed. Every point published in the Bee at that time was founded on truth, and the protracted disappearance of Dow bears testimony to the same.

The missing, and beyond the shadow of a doubt, murdered man, for over 30 years lived on an 80 acre tract in Freedom township. He was a bachelor and occupied his own house on one end of the farm while his tenant and family occupied another.

Everything went smoothly, or seemingly so, until '91, when the neighbors noticed that Dow and his tenant did considerable quarreling. Dow also complained that his tenant was dealing unfairly with him. Late in the summer he was compelled to mortgage the farm to keep up running expenses. A short time afterward he left for Circleville, his old home, with the intention of securing enough money to lift the mortgage. After several months' absence he appeared in Napoleon and to several friends showed a large roll of bills which he claimed would settle his financial straits, as well as "raise hell" with his tenant, whom he claimed was robbing him. He also said that he had all along ordered his tenant by letter not to dispose of his crops.

Before leaving town he announced that his farm was for sale and in fact endeavored to sell it to several parties to keep, it seems, his tenant from buying it, who had talked many times of making the purchase.

After Dow had reached home on several occasions he was heard engaged in an altercation with the tenant.

Later on the neighbors began to notice the absence of Dow and on inquiry were informed by the tenant that Dow had left, he knew not where. Two German boys while fishing one day, discovered Dow's plug hat floating down stream. It was also noticed that the tenant and his brother sold the entire crop shortly after Dow's disappearance; and that they proceeded to make repairs and farm the place.

But the mortgage yet remained unpaid and with the accumulation of taxes resulted in the farm being sold at sheriff's sale. After all claims were paid there remained over $1,500 to Dow's credit. His absence still continuing, Henry Rohrs was appointed trustee to take charge of the money.

Last spring a brother of Dow from Loudenville arrived in Napoleon and instituted search, but returned to his home no better informed as to his brother's whereabouts than before he came. From him I learned that Curtis Dow had a wife living; that he was married to her 30 years ago at Circleville, and that owing to some difference, he left her the next day and came to Napoleon. She has since secured a divorce, remarried and will now push her claim to dower in his estate.

In regard to the tenant, he was pushed to a settlement by the trustee, for the crops sold shortly after Dow's disappearance, and it was with much difficulty that a settlement was made. He was very surly and would not talk about the affair, maintaining that he knew no more about Dow than any one else. He has since moved to Fulton county, where he is farming.

Curtis L. Dow is not only dead, but he came to his death by foul means. He had money on his person at the time of his murdered and his remains buried some cited, was the incentive to the crime.

All of the neighbors believe him to be murdered and his remains buried some place on his farm, possibly near a ravine which crosses the place and which is a fit scene for the commission of any crime down on the books.

Dow was an old bachelor to all appearances, lived alone and associated but little with his neighbors, so that there are none sufficiently interested to take the matter up and force a solution of his disappearance, and so the matter rests. As yet the officials have done absolutely nothing, yet it is generally acknowledged that Dow is the victim of murder. Strange inconsistency, this.

ST. MARYS.

The Boss Snake Story Comes From the Oil Regions

St. Marys, O., Oct. 26.—(Special)—The one-year-old son of William Patterson, of Sidney, was nearly killed yesterday by a dose of laudanum. The child was playing on the floor with a bottle which had formerly contained a liniment, one of the constituents of which had been laudanum. The bottle was supposed to be empty, but there remained a little of the deadly stuff in the bottle, which the child drank, and immediately thereafter it went into convulsions. The prompt arrival of a physician, and the application of a stomach pump was all that saved the little one's life.

Prof. Martin Friedburg, of Toledo, opened the republican campaign in this county last night, by addressing a small gathering at New Knoxville. The political situation in this section is anything but reassuring.

The boss snake story of the season was related to a party of oil men who were congregated at the Fountain hotel, in this city, last evening by Frank Williams, a driller, who just arrived here from the Wood county field, the substance of which is as follows:

Jonathan Baker, a well-to-do farmer of Liberty township, that county, while engaged in clearing up, was attracted by a strange hissing noise, which emanated from a pile of logs, close to where he was working. He says it greatly resembled escaping steam. Proceeding toward the spot he began to investigate.

With his axe he cut one log in two, and then with a handspike rolled the pieces away, until six logs had been removed. Mr. Baker asserts that he is not accustomed to becoming badly frightened, but he does say that this sight unnerved him, something that the shot and shell of a score of battles of the late war failed to do. A monster object lay before his eyes, and for a moment he was horrified. The object was in the form of a snake with a head resembling that of a babe.

Back from the low forehead coursed an abundance of soft hair, and beneath the wrinkled brows peered eyes of liquid death. From the lips of the writhing serpent a forked tongue darted at intervals. The monster was over eight feet long, and as large in body as a man's thigh.

Mr. Baker was not hasty about dispatching his snakeship, fearing the result of a combat with such a monster; so he called on 'Squire McCartney, who was working in an adjoining field, and excitedly informed him of his discovery. After a consultation as to the proper course to pursue, Mr. Baker and the 'squire concluded to kill the serpent, and each of them seizing an axe, they proceeded to execute their murderous design.

Baker landed the first blow with his axe on the monster's head, while the 'squire rained blow after blow upon its body. The monster made a vigorous attempt to strike with its tail, but the men, with undaunted courage, succeeded in keeping up the attack, and with their trusty axes soon silenced the snake into submission. Certain parts of it were skinned, and are now being exhibited by the courageous Baker.

Unfortunately the animal's strange-looking head was mashed into an unrecognizable mass, which makes its preservation an impossibility. The affair has created quite an excitement in that neighborhood.

BEAUTIES OF PROTECTION

It Will Be Shown at the World's Fair.

Working Women and Their Wages and Conditions in the Protected Industries.

New York, Oct. 26.—The women of the state of New York intend to present one of the most extensive exhibits of the handiwork of the fair sex at the world's fair that has ever yet been made.

The local committee of the state board of lady managers is also actively engaged in compiling statistics concerning the wages and hours of labor prevailing among female wage-earners in the metropolis, and are also making vigorous efforts to supplement their figures with photographic views of the interiors of workshops, and sweater's dens, and other places where women are employed. The city officials are co-operating with the committee, and, judging from the report presented at to-day's meeting in the Bureau of Applied Arts, the exhibit will reflect more credit on the industry of the ladies of New York than on the humanity of the employers of female labor.

EXPERIENCE OF AN EX-CHAMPION.

Athletes and men who take ordinary outdoor exercise such as walking, running, bicycle riding, jumping, swimming, tennis, etc., are often the subjects of acute troubles. The experience of an ex-champion walker will be of interest to all who are afflicted. Harry Brooks writes:

"No. 324 East 19th St.,
New York, April 2, 1886.

"Numerous statements relative to the merits of different plasters having been brought to my attention, I take this opportunity to state that I have used Allcock's Porous Plasters for over 20 years and prefer them to any other kind. I would furthermore state that I was very sick with catarrh of the kidneys, and attribute my recovery entirely to Allcock's Porous Plasters."

BUCKEYELETS.

James Scott, of Dayton, shot and killed his wife at Xenia, believing her to be unfaithful to him.

William Penrose, of Springfield, while temporarily insane attempted to poison his wife with prepared candy.

Eels clogged the wheels of a watermill at Zanesville and it was necessary to suspend operations for a short time.

Harry Rothermel, a Mansfield youth, concealed himself in a freight car from playmates and was carried to Delaware.

W. B. Higby, a Cleveland attorney, has been dismissed from the bar for appropriating money which did not belong to him.

Dr. Charles Aylesworth has been convicted at Wooster on the charge of cutting with intent to kill, one Robert Cowell.

Clement Deitzler, of Bluffton, a mute, eloped with a friend of his wife, also a mute, and they never said a word about it to anybody.

A bank, barn and contents, the property of Edward Cook, near Wapakoneta, was destroyed by fire. Loss $3,000 with no insurance.

A special grand jury was called at Millersburg to try the case of Sheriff Leeper and deputy, charged with horse stealing, failed to find a bill.

UNITARIANS.

Big Convention Gathered in Moline, Illinois.

Much Important Work to Transact and a Large Number of Delegates Present.

Moline, Ill., Oct. 26.—One of the most notable state gatherings in the history of the Unitarian church assembled in this city yesterday afternoon, and the number and active participation of the delegates is but another evidence of the growing influence and popularity of the most liberal branch of the Church Militant.

The present is the season of state conferences of the Unitarian denomination, and Secretary Hosmer, of the western conference, has been kept busy for some weeks hurrying hither and theither to attend them. The Western represents the most advanced wing of the Presbyterian body, and ever since its separation from the older and more orthodox eastern branch of the church, and its organization on a purely ethical basis, it has advanced rapidly in wealth, and in the size and high intellectual standing of its membership.

The Wisconsin and Michigan conferences have already been held. The Iowa will be held in Keokuk about the middle of November, and a religious conference under the auspices of the Women's Western Unitarian conference will be held at Decorah, Iowa, next Tuesday.

The missionary spirit is growing in the Unitarian church, it is reaching out as never before, and the growing liberal sentiment of the country, finding in this church that which most nearly satisfies its views of the religious life, is becoming more and more affiliated with it year by year.

The result is a substantial growth all along the line and a correspondingly cheerful outlook.

The proceeding were opened yesterday afternoon with a meeting of the directors, and the annual sermon was delivered last night by Rev. Frank L. Hosmer.

The conference reassembled at 10 o'clock this morning and listened to an address of welcome by Rev. Ida C. Hulton, pastor of the Moline church.

At the conclusion of Miss Hulton's remarks, responses were made by several of the visitors, and the meeting adjourned until this afternoon, when three papers will be presented: (1) "Pleasant Tendencies in the United States," by Miss Donna I. Pennier, of Sheffield; (2) "The Drift Toward Nationalism," by Rev. George B. Penny, of Geneva; (3) "The Church's Attitude to Social Problems," by Rev. H. Brown, of Buda. In the evening will be discussed "Four Hundred Years of Religious Development." The theological and ethical conditions prevailing in 1492 will be discussed by Rev. W. W. Fenn, of Chicago; the changes of that time by Rev. A. W. Gould, of Hinsdale; and a resume of the present conditions will be presented by Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones, of Chicago. Thursday afternoon the program promises a literary feast, and the present gathering will doubtless be a landmark in the growth of Unitarianism in this state.

TEMPERANCE WORK.

Canadian Women Holding a Session in Belleville.

Belleville, Ont., Oct. 26.—The fifteenth annual convention of the Ontario Women's Christian Temperance union is in progress here to-day, having been opened with a devotional meeting last night.

The convention is composed of the executive board, and one delegate from each affiliated union. The Rev. W. Patterson, of Cooke's church, Toronto, will deliver the principal address this evening. The report of the secretary-treasurer shows a large increase in the membership of the organization. It is probable that a resolution will be adopted at this afternoon's session recommending the closing of the world's fair at Chicago on the Sabbath, and also recommending that the sale of liquor on the grounds be prohibited.

A RATTLING SHOW.

Hoss and Hoss Captured the House.

Robert Downing Coming—The White Slave Next Week at the People's—The Wonderland.

It would not, perhaps, be fair to say that Hoss and Hoss was the best comedy that has appeared here this season, but it is just to say that there has been no better. Wheeler's was packed last evening with an enthusiastic audience. They went wild over the show, and at the end of the second act the curtain had to be rolled up twice, and even then the audience would not be quiet until the stars had taken two curtain calls. The musical part of the performance has seldom been equaled in any comedy. Reed and Collier are both clever. They overdo nothing and keep the audience roaring with good clean comedy.

The company is a large one, and while every member deserves a good notice, space forbids. Every one was clever in some particular line. Hoss and Hoss should come around some time and stay a week.

A Good Show.

The performance at the Wonderland is catching on in good shape this week. Siegfried is making a hit in his facile impersonations. He makes up rapidly as Ben Harrison, Gen. Hancock, Gen. Logan, Bismarck, Emperor William, Peter Cooper, Washington and lots of other prominent men living and dead. He is certainly a wonderful man.

The Dixon brothers do a neat act and Murphey and Mack catch the house. There are a number of other good performers on the bill, also.

Coming Attractions.

The Midnight Alarm is drawing good houses at the People's and giving satisfaction to the patrons of the theater.

Next week the White Slave, a strong play, will be the attraction at the People's.

J. P. Sullivan will appear at Wheeler's November 4 in Leaves of Shamrock.

Robert Downing will play Virginius and The Gladiator at Wheeler's November 10 and 11.

WAPAKONETA.

Fatal Accident—Man Arrested for Embezzlement.

Wapakoneta, O., Oct. 26.—(Special)—E. G. Stanley, of St. Marys, was arrested by Constable Van Shiver, of this city, for embezzlement on a warrant sworn out by Porter & Davis, of Lima, his employers. The amout of his alleged shortage is $225.

Cridersville, a village six miles north of here, was the scene of a horrible accident yesterday afternoon. A three-year-old child of Joseph Weaver was playing near the railroad track with some companions. A passing freight had ignited the dry grass from a hot box and the little one's dress caught fire and it was burned to a crisp before help could arrive. The child died in horrible agony a few hours afterward

ASIATIC CHOLERA.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 26.—The town of Branford is in a flurry of excitement to-day over what some of the residents believe to be a case of Asiatic cholera. About 10 o'clock this morning a man having the semblance of a tramp was found near the Montowese hotel, lying near the road, doubled up with cramps and exhibiting other symptoms of cholera. The selectmen were notified and have had the man isolated until the exact nature of his disease is determined.

Advice to Mothers of Fretful Babies

828 Huron St., Toledo, O., July 17, '92.
Hand Medicine Co., Gentlemen:

My baby is now three months old and has had colic all her life. We gave her all kinds of remedies without any beneficial effect. I was almost discouraged in trying anything else when a friend told me of your Dr. Hand's Colic Cure. I gave her 12 drops which acted like a charm. Now as soon as I discover she has wind colic I give her one or two doses which relieves her entirely. I want to advise all mothers who have fretful babies to use Dr. Hand's Colic Cure. I will hereafter always keep it in the house.

The best of No. 2 hard wheat is selling in Kansas at 45c bu. Such a price, and a lower one for off grades, cannot be an equivalent to the cost of raising it. It is rough and hard lines for the farmer.

One day certifieth another in this grain business. The markets commence weak and break off moderately, only to regain strength and the decline at the close. To-day wheat is 3-8 to 1-2c lower at Chicago on December, but before the close became firmer, advanced to yesterday's closing, and then lost 1-4c.

Corn opened firm, but declined at Chicago 5-8c for December, and then regained the loss.

Foreign markets are reported closing lower.

In New York October wheat closed at 76 1-4c and December at 78 1-4c, a loss on each of 1-4c; May 3-8c lower at 85 1-8c; October corn 5-8c lower at 50 3-8c; May 1-4c lower at 52 3-4c; October oats 3-8c lower at 35 1-8c.

In Chicago October wheat closed at 71 5-8c and December at 73 5-8c, a loss on each of 1-4c; May at 79 3-8c, a gain of 1-4c.

In Toledo about the usual trading in wheat has been reported with a light improvement in prices. The opening trades were at an advance of 1-4c and at the advance was increased to 1-2c at the close. Cash wheat was in very little demand and the sales were light. No. 2 soft sold at 72c, with one little sale at 72 1-2, closing at 72 1-2c, a gain of 1-4c. No. 3 soft sold at 63 1-2c, closing as yesterday at 63 3-4. Sales in L. S. at 65c to 65 1-2c. Rejected No. 1 62c to 63c No. 2 at 61c. Mixed No. 2 at 68 1-2, No. 3 at 62c. A thick scum of crude oil covers the entire width of the river and should it become ignited the city would be in imminent danger.

CHILDHOOD AND OLD AGE.

The Tender Grandchild and a Well-to-do Old Gentleman of 72, Acknowledge Obligations.

The preparation that can be taken with safety and benefit by the tender infant, and that nourishes, strengthens, and cures the aged and infirm, is one that can truly be called scientific. Such a preparation was discovered by Dr. David Kennedy and named Favorite Remedy. It is prescribed and recommended the world over, by the medical profession, as the best medicine produced for the cure of all diseases arising from an impure condition of the blood.

This beautiful child whose picture is shown here, is the grandchild of Mr. J. E. Palmateer of Athens, N.Y., who had been cured of gravel in the kidneys and insomonia, (sleeplessnes) finishes his letter by saying:

"But this is not all Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has done for our family. My little grand daughter had eczema the worst way; she was a mass of running sores from her ears around the entire neck to her cheeks. My wife gave her Favorite Remedy in small doses, and what was the result? To-day the sores have all disappeared, the skin is smooth and clear, and she is fat and rugged and as bright as a silver dollar."

Mr. Solomon Davis of North Kortright, N. Y., finds himself at 72 years, suffering from neuralgia, felt tired all the time, weak, languid, poor appetite, and no ambition. Thought at his age nothing could do him any good, but like hundreds of other people in his condition tried Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and began to get better at once, and now feels as hale and hearty as he ever did.

It is particularly pleasing when sickness is as common as now, to know that there is a remedy that cures disease, builds up the weak and debilitated, strengthens the nerves, and has restored to health and strength, men and women who have been confined to their homes for months on beds of sickness.

GOOD GIRL, BETTY.

She Took An American Husband,

After Declining to Give Her Hand to An English Nobleman.

Cincinnati, Oct. 26.—The prominent social events of the week and probably of the season will take place at 5:30 this evening at the Scottish Rite cathedral.

Rev. George A. Thayer will unite in the holy bonds of matrimony Dr. C. R. Holmes and Miss Bettie Fleischmann.

The bride is not only one of the most popular belles of the Queen city, beautiful, accomplished and endowed with graces that have embellished the social life of the city for three or four seasons, but she has a warm spot in the hearts of patriotic Cincinnatians.

She declined to marry one of Europe's nobility because he refused to become an American citizen—a decision which the press of the country commented on at the time as worthy the emulation of many of our American belles.

The decorations of the Scottish Rite cathedral are completed and the eye gazes with pleasure and approbation from end to end of the interior of the edifice. Chrysanthemums abound.

Bride and groom will say the words that make them one until death under a huge chrysanthemum bell, composed of thousands of flowers, while all around are the rarest and most beautiful flowers, whose fragrance will add incense to the ceremony. Over 1,000 invitations have been issued and for the past two or three days guests from other cities have been arriving. The bridal costume is a dream of loveliness, all the way from Worth, of Paris.

After the ceremony a grand dinner will be served in the cathedral. Nearly 500 guests will partake of the many courses. After dinner there will be dancing until 12 o'clock.

The happy couple will take an extended bridal tour in the east and Florida.

THE BLACK REPUBLIC,

Hippolyte in Danger of Being Deposed.

Maniget Has the People's Favor.

All Haytian Centers Except One Have Given Liberal Majorities in the Past Few Months.

Panama, via Galveston, Oct. 26.—The discord in Hayti between the supporters of Gen. Hippolyte's government and those of Gen. Manignat are reaching a culmination and it is thought that a revolution will shortly break out against Hippolyte.

His antagonists are becoming bolder every day. All the principal Haytian centers, except Jacmel, have given majorities for the liberal party and make no concealment of the favor with which they regard the movement of Gen. Manignat.

President Hippolyte cannot trust even his nearest councillors. A conspiracy has been discovered among the members of the cabinet and the officers of the navy for the overthrow of Hippolyte and to aid in putting Manignat at the head of affairs. Several arrests have been made and the alleged traitors have been put in close confinement. Whether their heads will fall will probably depend on the events of the next few days.

It is reported that a great defalcation has been discovered in the collection of customs duties, showing that Hippolyte's subordinates have been robbing the treasury on their account and this development has added to the public dissatisfaction and anxiety for a change. Hippolyte, it is said, has resolved to make a diplomatic issue with Great Britain on the subject of the expedition from Jamaica, that came to a fiasco in the harbor and to learn whether Great Britain has a right to permit Jamaica to be a hatching place for conspiracies and a starting point for revolutionary expeditions against existing authority.

Meantime it is reported that the general difficulty in the way of the Manignat faction is the lack of funds. This, Hippolyte hopes, will make the exiles in Jamaica impotent for the time being, to take advantage of the situation in Hayti. It is said that the Manignat faction in Jamaica is bankrupt, but it is believed the exiles would probably find means to join and strengthen any revolutionary movement initiated in Hayti, although, on account of the lack of money, if for no other reason, they cannot themselves initiate a revolution.

THE IRISH PRISONERS.

They Will Soon Be Released From Jail.

The Gladstone Cabinet is Considering the Question of Pardons.

London, Oct. 26.—It is stated that at the cabinet council to be held to-morrow Mr. John Morley, chief secretary for Ireland, will propose the release of Irish political prisoners. The proposition is likely to excite a controversy in the cabinet and is already agitating the public.

The Telegraph to-day recites the most notable of the dynamite outrages since 1881, including the attempts at the Mansion house, London, March 16, 1881; the Liverpool town hall, June 10, 1881; the Mansion house, London, May 18, 1882; the local government board office, Whitehall, March 15, 1883; the police offices, Scotland Yard, May 30, 1884; the tower of London, January 24, 1885; and the house of commons on the same day.

The Telegraph defies the government to degrade the prerogative of mercy by releasing those whom it calls the human monsters who took part in these outrages.

There is but little opposition to the release of the Fenians Mullen and Dowling and the alleged dynamiter J. F. Egan, who have served two-thirds of their terms. Mullen was convicted of being concerned in the murder in Phoenix park, Dublin, of Lord Frederick Cavendish, chief secretary of Ireland, and Mr. Burke, under secretary. Dowling was implicated in the murder of a policeman named Cox. The question of greatest interest is whether the government will dare release Dr. Gallagher and others, alleged to have been concerned in the explosions in London, Liverpool and Glasgow. The impression prevails that the government will not take the responsibility of liberating these men.

HE WILL DUEL NO MORE.

Harry Vane Milbank Is Gathered in.

Reported That He Died in Switzerland Where He Went for His Health.

Paris, Oct. 26.—It is rumored that Harry Vane Milbank, the noted duellist, who figured in the Borrowe-Drayton scandal, has died in Switzerland, to which country he had gone for the benefit of his failing health.

Harry Vane Milbank was an Englishman by birth, but has lived on the continent the greater part of his life. He was educated at Eton and afterward joined the Blues.

With his regiment he passed through the war in the Soudan, and was present with Gen. Herbert Stewart when he was killed.

His principal occupation has been to spend money and fight duels. He has owned racing stables in England, Germany and France, and while not known as a plunger, he has been a constant player at most of the gaming clubs of the European capitals.

He has gone the pace as few even of his own countrymen have done. How many duels Milbank fought, even his best friends do not know, but he is said to have participated in seventeen or eighteen. The natural inference is that a man who has killed four men in single combat is a bloodthirsty monster. But Milbank claimed that he never provoked a quarrel.

Harry Milbank was a son of Sir Frederick Milbank and a grandson of Mark Milbank, who married the daughter of the first Duke of Cleveland. The young man spent £300,000, but still had a large fortune left. Had he lived, there was a probability that within a short time he might have been numbered among the score of richest Englishmen.

The late Duke of Cleveland, whose personal estate after his death was valued at £5,000,000 sterling, was one of the greatest mineral owners in Great Britain. Sir Frederick Milbank would have been the unquetioned heir to this entire estate had he not consented some time ago to cut off the entail in consideration of £500,000.

Milbank's part in the Borrowe-Drayton scandal was that of a friend of Hallett Alsop Borrowe, when the latter was challenged by Mr. James Coleman Drayton, on account, it is understood, of alleged attentions by Mr. Borrowe to Mrs. Augusta Drayton, the third daughter of the late William Astor.

WHEN CRESPO CAME IN

He Found the City Without a Guard.

Public Buildings Raided by the Soldiers.

How a General With Eleven Followers Fought a Successful Revolution.

New York, Oct. 26.—Gen. Crespo, the provincial president of the republic of Venezuela, in a letter to the Herald under date of October 19, recounts the stirring events of his fight for a legal government.

History repeats itself in the Venezuelan revolution, in that from a small beginning great results were accomplished. When Gen. Crespo issued his manifesto on the 20th of February last he had but 11 followers, no arms nor munitions of war, but adherents flocked to his standard and the manner in which he fought his way into Caracas at the head of 14,000 well armed and disciplined troops is now a matter of history.

The Herald, in describing the closing scenes of the revolution, says that when Villegas Pulido fled from Caracas at the approach of Crespo, the city was without a government and in the hands of a mob. Not a place of business remained open, but the streets were full of people and vivas for Crespo began to resound from every corner. Shortly it became whispered about that the national armories had been left open, and then a rush was made for them. The doors were found to be wide open and the people helped themselves to rifles, cartridges, etc. The powder magazines were raided and set off in a big blaze to the cry of "Viva la Paz." Some one's attention was then directed to La Opinion Nacional, Palacio's newspaper. The mob rushed for it with cries of "Down with the traitor's mouthpiece," and in less than half an hour the place was in ruins. The offices of other newspapers favorable to the several usurpers were treated likewise.

While all this was taking place in the city the forces of the revolution were already gathering about the suburbs. The government pickets at La Vegas, unadvised of the flight of their superiors, were preparing entrenchments in which to die like men when they first heard they had been deserted. After a hasty consultation they sent their captain forward to treat with the legalistas. The commander of the latter assured the entire force full guarantee and soon after the revolutionists rode into town. The city was immediately policed and law and order were soon restored. There was great rejoicing among the people of Caracas at the final success of the legalistas.

CLEVELAND MEN ALL.

The College Professors Are for Him.

Eighteen Members of the Faculty of Amherst Declare for the Ex-President.

Amherst, Mass., Oct. 26.—A political bombshell was dropped in this ancient college town that is likely to cause quite a deal of noise. Eighteen of the thirty-three professors who comprise the faculty of Amherst college some days ago signed a manifesto declaring for the candidacy of Grover Cleveland for president, and this interesting little document has been made public. Besides the eighteen who signed the paper five others heartily indorsed its contents, but doubted the propriety of their signing it. The signatures were voluntarily attached, and the convictions of the men of thought and learning were certainly with the democratic candidates. The manifesto and its signatures are as follows:

With Mr. Cleveland's views on public questions we agree. We admire his courage, his constancy, his public spirit, his studious neglect of merely personal interests where they conflict with the calls of public duty. We remember his tariff message, his pension vetoes and his letter against free silver as conspicuous instances of his disregarding personal considerations for the public good. We therefore urge all our fellow citizens to give Mr. Cleveland their hearty support.

John B. Clark, Edward Dickenson, Wm. C. Estey, Edwin A. Grosvener, Anson D. Morse, George D. Olds, E. R. S. Sterrett, Charles A. Tuttle, Ephraim L. Wood, Edward B. Crowell, Benjamin K. Emerson, Henry A. Frink, Edward P. Harris, Elijah P. Harris, S. Humphrey Neill, Frederick B. Peck, David P. Dodd, John M. Tuttle.

Twenty-five years ago there was not a democrat among the faculty of Amherst. To-day over two-thirds of the professors are for Cleveland. A few voted for Cleveland in 1884, more in 1888 and nearly all will do so this year. This does not indicate that these men are democrats; probably most of them are republicans; but they will vote for Cleveland for the reason which they ascribe to in their declaration above. This change of sentiment has been brought about largely by republican indifference to civil service reform; by the change of the party from moderate protection to ultra high protection in the interests of trusts and monopolies and by the attempted passage of the so-called force bill.

These are the causes as stated by Prof. Grosvener to-night. "While it may still be a question," continued Prof. Grosvener, "whether the republican or democratic party has deviated from hard money, Mr. Cleveland has shown a backbone which we must all admire."

"We also remember that the silver bill of 1890, the most injurious financial measure ever adopted by an American congress, was passed by a republican congress and signed by a republican president. We also feel that in the democratic party the better elements are in control, while in the republican party corruption exists." None of these professors will take a prominent part in politics, believing that in their manifesto they have done present duty.

DAVENPORT.

His Investigation Still in Progress.

He Used His Power to Keep Democrats From Voting.

New York, Oct. 26.—The congressional committee now investigating the methods of chief federal inspector of election, John I. Davenport, continued their work of investigation this morning.

Stephen A. Walker, ex-United States district attorney, was the first witness, and he testified that Mr. Davenport, during the election of 1888, was in the habit of holding prisoners in exorbitant sums of bail, and that he was also in the habit of filling out warrants of the district attorney which he held, signed and ordering arrests without consulting the district attorney.

Ex-Assistant District Attorney Abram J. Ross testified that he went with Mr. Davenport to Judge Brown only to certify to certain accounts.

The judge asked him if the account was all right and he replied he did not know. Judge Brown then signed the paper.

The total amount of money in this account, as expenditures, was $31,030.20.

Witness testified that he had no knowledge whether the account was correct or note.

AFTER COL. SMITH.

Canadians Resent An American Insult.

One of This Government's Officials Who Was Altogether Too Guy at Three Rivers.

Montreal, Oct. 26.—A dispatch from Three Rivers says that while the police guard has been withdrawn from the United States consulate the family of Consul Smith are insulted in various ways when they appear on the streets.

Yesterday while his two young daughters were walking down town they were insulted in having potato skins and other rubbish flung upon them from lanes and alleys by young French Canadians of both sexes.

Horace Greeley Smith, the vice consul's son, was also accosted in the postoffice lobby recently by a number of Frenchmen and insulted and roughly treated, personal violence being offered him.

Col. Smith, the dispatch adds, is confined to his bed threatened with an attack of pneumonia which has developed from the severe cold he caught on the night his windows were broken by some irate Frenchmen, because of the colonel's sanitary report of the city. The demand for the colonels' recall is being pressed.

PROF. SWINTON

Found Dead on the Floor in His Flat.

New York, Oct. 26.—Prof. Wm. Swinton, the well known author of the series of school books that bear his name, died suddenly at the Neufville flats at N. 252 West Eighty-fourth street, last night. He died alone. This morning he was found lying face downward on the floor, where he had apparently fallen in a fit of apoplexy.

He was about 60 years of age and was born in Scotland, but came to this country when a child. He was connected with New York newspapers, and later became a professor in the California state university. This professorship he held until his death. He leaves five children. Prof. Swinton had recently removed to this city from Brooklyn, in order to be near his physician, who was treating him for a chronic disease.

MACVEAGH TAUNTS EGAN

Meekly Kissing the Hand That Smote Him.

Silent For Nine Long Years Under Grave Accusations.

Whitelaw Reid Was the Author of the Charges Which So Worry Mr. Egan Now.

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—The following letter was given out last evening for publication:

To the Hon. Patrick Egan:

Dear Sir: I am glad to see that you intend at last—even after nine years—to reply to the attacks upon your character, but I am sorry to see that you persist in calling them my attacks, and this falsehood leads me to fear that you may repeat the other falsehood, that my statestatement that your appointment was an insult to Chile was intended as a reflection upon you because you was born in Ireland.

Now, if you will abandon these two sheer and absolute falsehoods, I give you the fullest liberty to abuse me to any extent or say anything about me you choose, for what you say of me cannot possibly do me the least harm and would really be, to my mind, a kind of eulogy of me.

As I furnished in my speech at Cooper Union the exact dates when Mr. Reid and the Tribune made their very serious and repeated attacks upon your character, you will, I trust, see how necessary it is for you to treat them as his attacks, not mine, and to answer him and not me. And if you answer him satisfactorily you need not bother about me; as you must pardon me for saying I never even heard of you till the Tribune gave me the information and I have neither desire nor reason to think ill of you except what is due to the Tribune's denunciation of you. If you can convict Mr. Reid and the Tribune of falsehood in making them, I will accept your justification with pleasure, but I must continue to think you were rather tardy in so grave and serious a matter.

And then, do abandon the false pretense that my objection to you was because you are an Irishman. You see that pretense is childish as well as false, for I am a good deal of an Irishman myself, as well as a counseller—though I regret to say without pay—of the Hibernian society of this city, while some of the best friends of my life have been Irishmen.

My objection to you was solely because Mr. Reid and the Tribune said you were not an honest man, and I don't like a dishonest man, no matter where he is born. If that accusation is not true then I have no objection whatever to you.

Whatever you may say now you must confess you had justified people in forming a very unfavorable judgment of you. You remained silent, so far as I ever heard, for nine long years under Mr. Reid's statement in the Tribune that you were a "sham patriot," and that you could give no satisfactory explanation of what you had done with $120,000 which had been intrusted to your care for the Irish cause.

And then, so far as I know, you remained silent twelve long months under the additional attacks upon you in the Tribune, saying that you were sure to be recalled and that "a new American representative at the Chilian capital was urgently needed," and far worse, that you had once fled "to avoid arrest and trial on a very serious criminal charge."

Now, all the Irishmen I know and esteem—and there are very many of them—if so attacked would have called Mr. Reid and the Tribune to prompt and stern account, requiring them either to prove their charges or to retract them. But you, alas, did neither. On the contrary, you meekly endured all these charges, and, to my amazement, you appeared on Mr. Reid's porch a week ago advocating his election to the vice-presidency, thus, to my mind, practically confessing the truth of his accusation against you. On the next evening I, therefore, felt at perfect liberty to call your appointment an insult to Chile.

So you see, Mr. Egan, it does not at all matter how poor an opinion you entertain of me or what you say about me. The only questions which can interest the country are these:

Were the accusations of Mr. Reid in the Tribune against you true?

If they were not true, why did you wait so long before refuting them?

And why do you divert your attack from the real author of your troubles to me, whose only offense is that of believing what Mr. Reid in the Tribune told me about you?

But, I repeat, if abuse of me will relieve your mind, abuse me to your heart's content, but don't suppose any dust can thus be thrown in the eyes of the public.

If you can give satisfactory answers to the three questions I have asked you will be completely vindicated, but nothing else will be, believe me, of any real service to you. WAYNE MACVEAGH.

CAUGHT BY THE CARS.

A School Girl Meets with a Horrible Accident.

Fostoria, O., Oct. 26.—(Special)—Little Kittie, the 7-year old daughter of Samuel Smothers, attempted to cross the T. & O. C. railroad at Columbus avenue between two sections of a freight train, while returning from school at noon today.

She was caught by the forward car on the rear end of the train and rolled and dragged for a distance of 60 feet.

She was picked up for dead and carried to a doctor's office, where an examination showed her right limb broken about the knee, her hip broken, the toes on the right foot crushed, two large bruises on her head where the scalp was torn off, and sundry cuts about the face.

If she recovers from the injuries it will be little short of miraculous, although the physician has strong hopes that she will pull through.

LAWYER IN TROUBLE.

Solicitor Pulbrook Suspended from Practice.

London, Oct. 26.—Solicitor Pulbrook, who figured in the notorious case against Charles Wilbram Perryman for libel, has been suspended from practice for 18 months for applying an old writ of execution against Perryman in order to obtain the transfer of a document for his own purposes.

Perryman was proprietor of the Financial Observer and Mining Herald. He charged Messrs. Bonnard, Deakin and Pulbrook with bribing the Financial News to support dishonest schemes, and with obtaining the sum of 58,000 pounds as "promotion plunder" in connection with city of Baltimore breweries, the Fletcher mills of Providence, R. I., and the Syke's Breweries company. Perryman was found guilty and punished.
